3 Rival Laos Princes Seek New Accord

Coalition Government May Be Formed Soon, Neutralist Believes

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP) — Laos' three rival political princes met in the rebel-held Plaines Des Jarres today, and neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma said the long-awaited agreement on a coalition government might be reached Friday.

Souvanna said his first meeting with Prince Boun Oum of the right-wing Vientiane government and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong encountered little difficulty.

"If we continue to work in a similar atmosphere, I am sure we will reach a final agreement Friday," Souvanna said.

It was the princes' first meeting since January.

Boun Oum was accompanied to Khang Kay by his deputy premier and royal government strongman Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

Souvanna's optimism contrasted sharply with a general feeling among diplomats and observers in Vientiane before the meeting that it had little chance of success.

Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi had given no advance indication that they would back down on the issue that broke up earlier attempts at forming a coalition under Souvanna. The conservative Vientiane leaders had insisted on retaining the defense and interior portfolios in a coalition government to give them control of the army and police.

Before leaving for Khang Kay, Phoumi declared once again that Souvanna can have these posts only if he can prove he is truly neutral and guarantees they will not fall into the hands of Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao.

Western diplomats generally feared that failure of the princes to agree would be followed by a new military drive by the Pathet Lao.

Souvanna has the backing of the United States, the Soviet Union and the other powers at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos. The United States hopes a government pledged to neutrality under Souvanna will take the Red threat off neighboring Thailand and end the need for U.S. troops there. The troops were rushed into Thailand after the Pathet Lao's recent military gains swept to the northeast Thai frontier.

Boys Paddled By Court Order

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Judge John Bronson has added an old fashioned wooden paddle as standard equipment in his Sandusky County Juvenile Court.

The judge said Wednesday the paddle was put to use on four boys who set fire to an old barn. The boys, 12 to 15 years old, were "quite shocked when they heard the decree," Judge Bronson said.

The paddling was administered by juvenile officer Dee Pinedo in the presence of the boys' parents.

Bank Depositors To Receive Funds

CLEVELAND (AP) — Distribution of $40 million belonging to 300,000 depositors of the old Society for Savings can proceed now that more than three years of court battles have ended.

The Ohio 8th District Court of Appeals blocked all further appeals to the merger of the Society for Savings into the Society National Bank.

Common Pleas Court Judge Daniel H. Wasserman said he expected to set the exact date for distribution today. The bank said it would be September before it would be mechanically able to process the distribution.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of State Ted W. Brown reported today 818 new business incorporations in Ohio during May, compared to 816 in May last year, increasing the year's total to 4,181.

Covered Bridge Job Contract Is Awarded by Commissioners

Pickaway County's Board of Commissioners yesterday awarded a contract to the Twin Construction Co. of Chillicothe for replacement of the county's last remaining covered bridge that spans Walnut Creek near Ashville.

The Chillicothe firm's bid is $118,953.53. It was one of two submitted for the job.

The other bid, submitted by the W. J. Seidensticker Co. of Columbus, was for $118,977.39, or $73.86 more than the Twin offer.

Commission Chairman Charles Morris said construction will start in about one week. Initial work will include removal of the old wooden structure.

AWARDING of the contract served as climax to a long and controversial issue of whether or not the covered bridge should be removed. The action was strongly opposed by factions of the Pick-away County Historical Society.

County officials first considered replacement of the bridge after it was declared unsafe for loads more than three tons. Suggestion that a new structure be built around the old one or that the covered span be moved a short distance was rejected on grounds that too much expense would be involved.

Wade Canter of Ashville has come up with the proposal that at least a portion of the old bridge be reconstructed in Ashville's Community Park. The Commissioners said this move probably would depend on whether or not the removed lumber could be obtained from the construction firm which now has charge of removal.

The Commission, meeting in quarterly session this week, also paid six sheep claims amounting to $257.85. Morris said this represents the lowest quarterly amount paid in several years.

Lausche's Ban on Aid to Reds Is Labeled 'No Win Policy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — George W. Ball, undersecretary of state, today blasted the proposed denial of American aid to Communist satellite countries as a cold war "no win policy."

Ball stopped just short of mentioning the Senate's action Wednesday in amending the foreign aid bill to forbid aid to any Communist-ruled country, such as Yugoslavia and Poland. He told a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee:

"If we are not going to offer these people hope, then I submit, Mr. Chairman, we are not following a (cold war) win policy but a no win policy."

Apple Grower Defeats Lodge for Senate Nod

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Horace Seely-Brown Jr., a plain-talking, apple-growing congressman, has won the Republican nomination for U.S. senator from Connecticut.

Seely-Brown, 54, scored a stunning upset over former Gov. John Davis Lodge Wednesday at a dramatic Republican state convention. Although the pre-convention underdog, he swamped Lodge on the first ballot, 476 to 149.

Council Offers Counter Rate on Gas Hike Here

City Council has submitted a counter proposal relative to a new rate ordinance sought here by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

According to Council the new rate schedule as requested by Ohio Fuel would increase total rates here by about $74,000 for the first year in effect. This indicates an increase of about $15 for each consumer on a yearly basis.

The solons also pointed out that additional increases, although on a smaller basis, would be in effect the next three years after the first increase had been installed.

Council's proposal calls for a minimum fee of $2.50 per month per customer which is in accord with Ohio Fuel's new schedule.

OTHER figures presented by the city are: 25 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,000 cubic feet; 7 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 1,000 to 5,000 cubic feet; 7 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 5,000 to 50,000 cubic feet; 7 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 50,000 to 100,000 cubic feet; and 6 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for over 100,000 cubic feet.

The Gas Company's first year request lists: 25 cents per 100 cubic feet for the first 1,500 cubic feet; 7 1/2 cents per 100 cubic feet for the next 98,500 cubic feet; and 7 cents per 100 cubic feet for all in excess of 100,000 cubic feet.

Councilman Dudley Carpenter said a study by his committee indicated that the new rates in Circleville would be higher than several now in effect in surrounding communities. He referred to Kingston, Chillicothe and Washington C. H.

The figures listed on the city's proposal were submitted to Ohio Fuel for further study. The Gas Company's reply possibly will be presented at the next Council meeting June 19.

Oriental Marshall Plan Is Urged

CLEVELAND (AP)—A program to provide technical assistance, experience and sorely needed capital in the Far East can succeed just as the Marshall Plan succeeded in Europe, W. Averell Harriman says.

Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, addressed the first annual Press Club awards luncheon attended by about 600.

The former New York governor said that "Communist disaster in food production on the mainland," as contrasted with progress in Japan and by the free Chinese in Taiwan, makes the present an opportune time for the free world to move ahead in the Far East.

Terror Campaign Resumes As 2 Rebels Are Executed

ALGIERS (AP) — The Secret Army Organization struck again today as promised, returning to its terror campaign by moving down Moslems and setting fire to Algiers University, Algeria's main seat of learning.

Three phosphorous bombs shattered the inside of the massive science and medicine building as the terrorists carried the threat of a scorched earth campaign into the heart of the city.

Firemen gave up hope of saving the main building as flames roared out of the large windows. Black smoke shrouded the heart of Algiers.

Crowds of Europeans and French soldiers watched the blaze from the sidewalk of Rue Michelet and adjacent Boulevard St. Saens. Wind-whipped flames seared the treetops of the university garden.

Earlier today, European terrorists struck at groups of Moslems with pistol and machine-gun attacks, killing four Moslems.

The precarious truce which gave the city a new breath of life during the past seven days thus came to a shattering end.

In the administrative capital of Rocher Noir east of Algiers, French officials received the news of the new terror war in dark pessimism.

"They are destroying the last chance of reconciliation with Moslems," one official said.

The European underground's commando squads went back into action shortly after the French government executed two Secret Army killers at a fort outside of

Small Cookout Planned for 800 Friends

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N.Y. (AP)—Perry Grant is having a little cookout Sunday for his close friends.

The police have been notified. The driveway has been coated for dancing. The caterer has been alerted. The champagne has been ordered. And the bands have been engaged.

The wealthy bachelor expects more than 800 guests for the event at his sumptuous estate on Long Island.

It all began three weeks ago when Grant, 25, escaped injury as his plane crashed in a Maryland Swamp. He got to thinking how lucky he was to have escaped.

"I decided to have some close friends in to help me celebrate being alive," Grant recalls. "But the word spread and now they're coming from all parts of the country."

Grant's family amassed a fortune in investments and the operation of a court stenography service, of which Grant now is general manager.

Grant said he notified local police in order to assure that the party is kept orderly and free from incidents of gate-crashing.

Paris. They were the first Secret Army activists sent before a firing squad, but it did not seem likely that the killings in Algiers were manifestations of Secret Army resentment at the executions.

Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, 52, the Secret Army's No. 2 leader until his capture in March, remained in the Paris death row he had shared with the two men executed today. There was an indication that President De Gaulle would spare Jouhaud's life.

Southeast of Paris at Fort Du Trou D'Enfer (Hell Hole Fort) rifle volleys followed by two pistol shots—the customary coups de grace—rang out at 4:12 a.m. They brought death to Albert Dovecar, 37, a former sergeant in the Foreign Legion, and Claude Pigets, 27, a civilian.

They had been convicted of slaying a police commissioner in Algiers on March 31, 1961.

Dovecar and Pigets refused blindfolds as they faced the firing squad.

"Aim at the heart!" shouted Pigets. Just before the shots rang out, he cried: "Vive l'Algeria Francaise" (long live French Algeria).

"Vive l'Autriche (Austria)! Vive la Legion!" shouted Dovecar.

The bodies were buried in nearby Thiais Cemetery.

Dovecar was a native of Yugoslavia and lived in Austria before joining the Foreign Legion in 1957. Pigets was an insurance agent in Algiers.

The two Secret Army killers were brought to the fort under heavy guard during the night from Fresnes Prison in Paris, where Jouhaud also is held. There was no advance announcement of who was being executed, and rumors spread that Jouhaud had faced the firing squad.

Jouhaud's lawyer, Yves Perrussel, spiked the rumors. Under French law the lawyer for a condemned man must be present at his execution and Perrussel was reached at his home after the rifle volleys cracked out.

"You see, I'm still here," he told a reporter. "It was not Jouhaud."

Ratterman under Severe Fire During Civil Rights Hearing

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Defense attorneys battered at Campbell County Sheriff George Ratterman today in cross-examination during the trial of six men accused of violating his civil rights.

The U. S. District Court trial was interrupted this morning repeatedly by objections of defense attorneys Thomas Steue, Cincinnati, and J. Leonard Walker, of Louisville.

Walker represents Fort Thomas attorney Charles E. Lester. Ratterman testified he had information that Lester had done "similar things to other people."

He referred to the government charge that Lester, along with three Newport police officers, and two operators of the Glenn-Hotel-Tropicana night club in Newport, conspired to arrange Ratterman's arrest in May 1961.

Ratterman was arrested in a Glenn Hotel room with a striptease dancer April Flowers, but later was cleared of all charges in the case.

Ratterman, questioned anew about how many drinks he had the night before his arrest, said he and friend Thomas Paisley, Medina, Ohio, businessman, had three or four drinks in one Cincinnati restaurant and may have had one or two while having dinner in another restaurant.

At the time of the incident Ratterman said he and Paisley met Tito Carinci in a Cincinnati hotel restaurant and the raid at the Glenn, in which Carinci was part owner, occurred after that meeting.

Ratterman said he had no recollection of having gone to still another Cincinnati cafe, and said he wrote to the Department of Justice about the possibility of kidnaping because he knew no reason why he should have been taken to the last case.

"I can only guess that it was so we would be seen by friendly witnesses," he said.

Wednesday, Ratterman said Carinci asked him and Paisley to go to the Glenn where Tito had an apartment.

Referring to testimony that he once spent the night in the Glenn Hotel because he became ill, Ratterman told the jury it was "absolutely false" that he became drunk that night and passed out. He also said it was absolutely false that he attempted to attack a waitress in the Tropicana night club, which was in the Glenn Hotel building.

Evangelist Fears Bible Deemphasis

CHICAGO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said here Wednesday night there is a movement afoot "to take the Bible out of our national life."

"If this movement succeeds," Graham declared, "then 'In God we trust' will be removed from our coins, the Bible will be taken out of the courtroom, future presidents will be sworn in with their hands on the Constitution, and chaplains will disappear from the Congress and the armed forces."

Graham said, "If the Bible goes down, then anarchy will rear its ugly head. This will be followed by savagery such as the earth has never known. This generation must face the fact that it is either back to the Bible or back to the jungle."

Declaration Intended as Election Lever

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republicans approved today a declaration of party principles for this year's election campaigns and coupled it with a broadside attack on Kennedy administration domestic and foreign policies.

The 2,500-word statement called for a thorough overhaul of the tax system, without specifically mentioning tax reduction, and for "a new direction for public policy in order to advance the cause of freedom at home and throughout the world."

Firing directly at President Kennedy, the Republicans said: "The oft-heard campaign cry 'Get America Moving Again' has become a hollow echo."

The statement, entitled "A Declaration of Republican Principle and Policy," also said:

"The current administration has shown little understanding of, or concern for, institutions that buttress freedom at home—separation of the powers, checks and balances, state and local responsibility, and a free competitive economy."

"It has demonstrated neither the wit nor the will to meet effectively the assault of international communism on freedom."

"We Republicans cannot witness the erosion of freedom without warning or protest."

The Republicans asserted that the overriding issue before the American electors in 1962 is:

"Which party acts more effectively to preserve and enlarge human freedom?"

Offering GOP alternatives in broad, non-detailed outline, the statement attacked Kennedy administration actions and policy across a broad range of specific points. The list of targets ran from such matters as medical care for the aged and the injection of government into labor-management affairs, to the handling of the Berlin crisis and the decisions which the Republicans said permitted establishment of a Communist military base in Cuba, 90 miles from the Florida coast.

The document is intended as a handbook for the 1962 congressional election campaigns.

It was drafted by a 12-member Senate-House committee after consultation with party leaders which included former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the committee, made public the document after it had been submitted to and approved by caucuses of Senate and House Republican members.

Akron's Dead Infant Total Climbs to 9

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The number of dead infants a funeral home operator is accused of failing to bury has risen to nine. Police have found another body in the rear of the funeral home.

Eight bodies were discovered Tuesday. The home's operator led them to the ninth Wednesday. Police said the body was not there when they searched the room Tuesday.

Clarence D. Irby, 37, manager of the funeral home, is free on $300 bond. He is to appear for arraignment on a suspicion charge June 26.

Police Capt. Carroll Cutright said Irby admitted Wednesday he had put the bodies there and "just didn't get around to burying them." Cutright also quoted Irby as saying he hadn't buried them because he hadn't been paid.

All the babies were still born except one, police said. The bodies, according to hospital tags found on them, had accumulated between July 1959 and last January.

Clyde Falor, Akron relief director, said his department had arranged for burials for four infants through the funeral home and had paid for three. Cutright said burial for at least one baby, and probably others, was paid through the relief program.

Youths Not Seeking Soft Vacation But Summer Employment and Money

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America's teen-agers apparently do not believe that the best thing in life are free.

Not many of them, as they pour out of the nation's high schools and colleges for summer vacations, are dreaming of a shady river bank and a fishing pole.

They are more likely to be dreaming of hustling boxes in a warehouse, sitting behind a desk in an office, running a tractor, or any of a hundred other occupations.

When school's out, they want the money coming in.

Practically all the experts point out that, in addition to the other reasons cited, there's a simple statistical reason for so many youthful job-hunters—the fact that there was a baby boom at the end of World War II. The same population explosion that jams the schools the rest of the year is jamming the employment offices now.

And the sad fact is that in practically all areas of the country, only a fraction of those seeking full-time jobs will find them.

The Texas Unemployment Commission has put a new group of youth coordinators on the job after its experience last year, when it was able to find 3,170 permanent jobs and 1,838 summer jobs for young people—but had 16,000 applicants.

Florida's State Employment Service estimates that only one out of three teen-aged job seekers found work last summer, and this summer will be about the same.

A New York state employment official, Alex Altheim, says that despite an extensive program of farm work for city boys, and various types of "made" summer work, "we couldn't possibly cope with the demand even if our entire staff was working only on summer jobs and not taking care of others at all."

Russell Hand, manager of the Omaha office of the Nebraska State Employment Service, makes a similar prediction—only about one-third of the expected 3,500 applicants will find jobs.

One big reason why it will be tough for the teen-agers to find jobs is that it is tough for many of their elders. In sections where adult unemployment is too high, employers who must pay minimum wages are more inclined to hire adults, even for seasonal work.

Mechanization on the farm has eliminated countless jobs, like the bean picking in Wisconsin that used to attract many youths, but is now done by machine.

The precarious truce which gave the city a new breath of life during the past seven days thus came to a shattering end.

In the administrative capital of Rocher Noir east of Algiers, French officials received the news of the new terror war in dark pessimism.

"They are destroying the last chance of reconciliation with Moslems," one official said.

The European underground's commando squads went back into action shortly after the French government executed two Secret Army killers at a fort outside of

Small Cookout Planned for 800 Friends

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N.Y. (AP)—Perry Grant is having a little cookout Sunday for his close friends.

The police have been notified. The driveway has been coated for dancing. The caterer has been alerted. The champagne has been ordered. And the bands have been engaged.

The wealthy bachelor expects more than 800 guests for the event at his sumptuous estate on Long Island.

It all began three weeks ago when Grant, 25, escaped injury as his plane crashed in a Maryland Swamp. He got to thinking how lucky he was to have escaped.

"I decided to have some close friends in to help me celebrate being alive," Grant recalls. "But the word spread and now they're coming from all parts of the country."

Grant's family amassed a fortune in investments and the operation of a court stenography service, of which Grant now is general manager.

Grant said he notified local police in order to assure that the party is kept orderly and free from incidents of gate-crashing.

Paris. They were the first Secret Army activists sent before a firing squad, but it did not seem likely that the killings in Algiers were manifestations of Secret Army resentment at the executions.

Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, 52, the Secret Army's No. 2 leader until his capture in Jarch, remained in the Paris death row he had shared with the two men executed today. There was an indication that President De Gaulle would spare Jouhaud's life.

Southeast of Paris at Fort Du Trou D'Enfer (Hell Hole Fort) rifle volleys followed by two pistol shots—the customary coups de grace—rang out at 4:12 a.m. They brought death to Albert Dovecar, 37, a former sergeant in the Foreign Legion, and Claude Piégts, 27, a civilian.

They had been convicted of slaying a police commissioner in Algiers on March 31, 1961.

Dovecar and Piégts refused blindfolds as they faced the firing squad.

"Aim at the heart!" shouted Piégts. Just before the shots rang out, he cried: "Vive l'Algeria Francaise" (long live French Algeria).

"Vive l'Autriche (Austria)! Vive la Legion!" shouted Dovecar.

The bodies were buried in nearby Thiais Cemetery.

Dovecar was a native of Yugoslavia and lived in Austria before joining the Foreign Legion in 1957. Piégts was an insurance agent in Algiers.

The two Secret Army killers were brought to the fort under heavy guard during the night from Fresnes Prison in Paris, where Jouhaud also is held. There was no advance announcement of who was being executed, and rumors spread that Jouhaud had faced the firing squad.

Jouhaud's lawyer, Yves Perrussel, spiked the rumors. Under French law the lawyer for a condemned man must be present at his execution and Perrussel was reached at his home after the rifle volleys cracked out.

"You see, I'm still here," he told a reporter. "It was not Jouhaud."

Ratterman under Severe Fire During Civil Rights Hearing

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Defense attorneys battered at Campbell County Sheriff George Ratterman today in cross-examination during the trial of six men accused of violating his civil rights.

The U. S. District Court trial was interrupted this morning repeatedly by objections of defense attorneys Thomas Steuve, Cincinnati, and J. Leonard Walker, of Louisville.

Walker represents Fort Thomas attorney Charles E. Lester. Ratterman testified he had information that Lester had done "similar things to other people."

He referred to the government charge that Lester, along with three Newport police officers, and two operators of the Glenn-Hotel-Tropicana night club in Newport, conspired to arrange Ratterman's arrest in May 1961.

Ratterman was arrested in a Glenn Hotel room with a striptease dancer April Flowers, but later was cleared of all charges in the case.

Ratterman, questioned anew about how many drinks he had the night before his arrest, said he and friend Thomas Paisley, Medina, Ohio, businessman, had three or four drinks in one Cincinnati restaurant and may have had one or two while having dinner in another restaurant.

At the time of the incident Ratterman said he and Paisley met Tito Carinci in a Cincinnati hotel restaurant and the raid at the Glenn, in which Carinci was part owner, occurred after that meeting.

Ratterman said he had no recollection of having gone to still another Cincinnati cafe, and said he wrote to the Department of Justice about the possibility of kidnaping because he knew no reason why he should have been taken to the last cafe.

"I can only guess that it was so we would be seen by friendly witnesses," he said.

Wednesday, Ratterman said Carinci asked him and Paisley to go to the Glenn where Tito had an apartment.

Referring to testimony that he once spent the night in the Glenn Hotel because he became ill, Ratterman told the jury it was "absolutely false" that he became drunk that night and passed out. He also said it was absolutely false that he attempted to attack a waitress in the Tropicana night club, which was in the Glenn Hotel building.

Evangelist Fears Bible Deemphasis

CHICAGO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham said here Wednesday night there is a movement afoot "to take the Bible out of our national life."

"If this movement succeeds," Graham declared, "then 'In God we trust' will be removed from our coins, the Bible will be taken out of the courtroom, future presidents will be sworn in with their hands on the Constitution, and chaplains will disappear from the Congress and the armed forces."

Graham said, "If the Bible goes down, then anarchy will rear its ugly head. This will be followed by savagery such as the earth has never known. This generation must face the fact that it is either back to the Bible or back to the jungle."

Declaration Intended as Election Lever

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Republicans approved today a declaration of party principles for this year's election campaigns and coupled it with a broadside attack on Kennedy administration domestic and foreign policies.

The 2,500-word statement called for a thorough overhaul of the tax system, without specifically mentioning tax reduction, and for "a new direction for public policy in order to advance the cause of freedom at home and throughout the world."

Firing directly at President Kennedy, the Republicans said: "The oft-heard campaign cry 'Get America Moving Again' has become a hollow echo."

The statement, entitled "A Declaration of Republican Principle and Policy," also said:

"The current administration has shown little understanding of, or concern for, institutions that buttress freedom at home—separation of the powers, checks and balances, state and local responsibility, and a free competitive economy."

"It has demonstrated neither the wit nor the will to meet effectively the assault of international communism on freedom."

"We Republicans cannot witness the erosion of freedom without warning or protest."

The Republicans asserted that the overriding issue before the American electors in 1962 is:

"Which party acts more effectively to preserve and enlarge human freedom?"

Offering GOP alternatives in broad, non-detailed outline, the statement attacked Kennedy administration actions and policy across a broad range of specific points. The list of targets ran from such matters as medical care for the aged and the injection of government into labor-management affairs, to the handling of the Berlin crisis and the decisions which the Republicans said permitted establishment of a Communist military base in Cuba 90 miles from the Florida coast.

The document is intended as a handbook for the 1962 congressional election campaigns.

It was drafted by a 12-member Senate-House committee after consultation with party leaders which included former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Rep. Melvin Laird of Wisconsin, chairman of the committee, made public the document after it had been submitted to and approved by caucuses of Senate and House Republican members.

Akron's Dead Infant Total Climbs to 9

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—The number of dead infants a funeral home operator is accused of failing to bury has risen to nine. Police have found another body in the rear of the funeral home.

Eight bodies were discovered Tuesday. The home's operator led them to the ninth Wednesday. Police said the body was not there when they searched the room Tuesday.

Clarence D. Irby, 37, manager of the funeral home, is free on $300 bond. He is to appear for arraignment on a suspicion charge June 25.

Police Capt. Carroll Cutright said Irby admitted Wednesday he had put the bodies there and "just didn't get around to burying them." Cutright also quoted Irby as saying he hadn't buried them because he hadn't been paid.

All the babies were still born except one, police said. The bodies, according to hospital tags found on them, had accumulated between July 1959 and last January.

Clyde Falor, Akron relief director, said his department had arranged for burials for four infants through the funeral home and had paid for three. Cutright said burial for at least one baby, and probably others, was paid through the relief program.

LE Board May Consider Monday Meeting

The Logan Elm School District Board of Education is considering holding a meeting at 8 p. m. Monday for further study of the body's recent action on relieving Keith Merrin of his coaching duties, according to Orley Judy, president of the board.

Petitions have been circulated in the community asking the board to reconsider. A group of alumni and students have signed statements endorsing Merrin as a coach and as a teacher.

Many of the petitions were based on Merrin's overall athletic record the past two years at Logan Elm.

His football teams have won 12 games while losing three.

In basketball the team he has coached won a 36-7 record. In his first year at Logan Elm, his cagers won the Pickaway County League championship.

This year they were second in the league and county tourney, co-champs of the class A Central District tournament and reached the finals of the Southeastern regional to become one of the top eight class A teams in the state.

The Logan Elm track team placed second to Ashville in the 1961 county track meet. The Braves were county champs this year.

Contributes to OFIC

Local aid in May helped Ohio to set new state and national records for business contributions to non-tax-supported colleges, through the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges.

The Coca-Cola Bottling Company, 713 S. Scioto St., was listed among contributors to the OFIC during May.

For its fiscal year ending May 31, the "community chest" of 32 Ohio colleges working together in an appeal for corporate aid reported 1445 business gifts for a total of $1,083,015. Both figures set new records.

Declaration

Approval by House members was announced as unanimous. Sens. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Milton R. Young of North Dakota dissented as Republican senators approved the statement as a "consensus" of party viewpoint in the Senate.

Other senators reserved the right to clarify their support in subsequent statements.

Young said his negative vote reflected his dissatisfaction with some of the language referring to farm problems. Cooper was understood to have objected to some of the expressions of foreign policy.

Prefacing the statement was an outline of what the Republicans called their "five principles as basic beliefs."

They were:

- "We believe in the individual's right and capacity to govern himself—to set his own goals—to make his way to them without the restraints of dictatorship or paternalism."

- "We believe that the basic function of government is to maintain an environment in which the individual can freely develop powers of mind, heart and body with which his Creator endowed him. We believe that government should do for the people only the things they cannot do for themselves."

- "We believe that the federal government should act only when the people are not adequately served by state or local governments. We believe in separation of the powers of government. We believe in a system of checks and balances to prevent a monopoly of power in any branch of government."

- "We believe that government must act to help establish conditions of equal opportunity for all people and to help assure that no one is denied the requisites for a life of dignity."

- "We believe that government must prudently weigh needs against resources, put first things first, rigorously tailor means to ends, and understand the differences between words and deeds. The future will be built by those who work for it—not by those who only promise it."

LE Board May Consider Monday Meeting

The Logan Elm School District Board of Education is considering holding a meeting at 8 p. m. Monday for further study of the body's recent action on relieving Keith Merrin of his coaching duties, according to Orley Judy, president of the board.

Petitions have been circulated in the community asking the board to reconsider. A group of alumni and students have signed statements endorsing Merrin as a coach and as a teacher.

Many of the petitions were based on Merrin's overall athletic record the past two years at Logan Elm.

His football teams have won 12 games while losing three.

In basketball the teams he has coached sport a 36-7 record. In his first year at Logan Elm, his cagers won the Pickaway County League championship.

This year they were second in the league and county tourney, co-champs of the class A Central District tournament and reached the finals of the Southeastern regional to become one of the top eight class A teams in the state.

The Logan Elm track team placed second to Ashville in the 1961 county track meet. The Braves were county champs this year.

Declaration

Approval by House members was announced as unanimous. Sens. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Milton R. Young of North Dakota dissented as Republican senators approved the statement as a "consensus" of party viewpoint in the Senate.

Other senators reserved the right to clarify their support in subsequent statements.

Young said his negative vote reflected his dissatisfaction with some of the language referring to farm problems. Cooper was understood to have objected to some of the expressions of foreign policy.

Prefacing the statement was an outline of what the Republicans called their "five principles as basic beliefs."

They were:

1. "We believe in the individual's right and capacity to govern himself—to set his own goals—to make his way to them without the restraints of dictatorship or paternalism."

2. "We believe that the basic function of government is to maintain an environment in which the individual can freely develop powers of mind, heart and body with which his Creator endowed him."

We believe that government should do for the people only the things they cannot do for themselves.

3. "We believe that the federal government should act only when the people are not adequately served by state or local governments. We believe in separation of the powers of government. We believe in a system of checks and balances to prevent a monopoly of power in any branch of government."

4. "We believe that government must act to help establish conditions of equal opportunity for all people and to help assure that no one is denied the requisites for a life of dignity."

5. "We believe that government must prudently weigh needs against resources, put first things first, rigorously tailor means to ends, and understand the differences between words and deeds. The future will be built by those who work for it—not by those who only promise it."

European Tax, Budget Plans Studied by U.S. Leaders

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Kennedy administration is studying Western Europe's tax, economic and budget policies in an effort to find out what makes Europe run while America walks. Reasons for these studies and their possible bearing on future U.S. fiscal policies are discussed in this third of four articles by AP economic affairs writer Sterling F. Green.

By STERLING F. GREEN
AP Economic Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is probing the growth possibilities in a European-style policy of neutral federal budgets—less concern over small and temporary deficits, less emphasis each year on surpluses.

President Kennedy has ordered his Council of Economic Advisers to study Western Europe's budget, panding their output twice as fast as the United States. Some have gone beyond "full employment" and now have labor shortages.

Some reasons are evident—the swift development of the Common Market, the rush to raise living standards which still are far below this country's different economic planning. Still other elements have caught the eye of administration economists.

Whether or not these fiscal policies have helped build Europe's visible prosperity can be debated. But the Kennedy administration, now searching for ways to turn a merely satisfactory recovery into a more satisfactory recovery, intends to find out if it can.

Of special interest are Europe's tax structures, for Kennedy has announced he will send Congress this summer the blueprint for a massive 1963 tax overhaul. This is speculation that it will contain a net tax cut of up to $3 billion. At what points should this tax relief be concentrated to produce maximum growth?

Republicans who blame Kennedy economic policies for the stock market's wild gyrations, already have assailed the European study as "a real Alice-in-wonderland" adventure.

There are ample signs that the study and its director, Chairman Walter W. Heller of the Economic Council, will be the target of GOP campaign speeches throughout the fall congressional election campaign.

The Heller study is expected to propose some changes in the budget itself — the "administrative budget" historically used for federal bookkeeping. Economists have long argued that it is a poor yardstick for measuring the actual impact of federal spending and tax-collecting on the economy.

Heller has indicated he favors a budget which would show the economic effects of the huge government held trust funds, including Social Security.

But Kennedy and Heller are focusing on matters of greater moment than tinkering with the fiscal yardsticks. They want to know for instance, whether a tax cut in 1963 might have the same beneficial effect that the last one had, in 1954. And whether it might be preferable as a stimulant — as Britain seems to believe — to a rapid increase in federal spending.

Historically Americans have expected their government — no matter which party is in power — to budget for a surplus. All too often the surpluses have turned into deficits, but the goal of balancing the budget has been accepted as synonymous with fiscal responsibility.

One aim of the Heller study, some officials here suggest privately, is a public relations purpose—to pave the way for public acceptance of some possible departures from time-honored American fiscal tradition.

That squares with the current hints that Kennedy will ask Congress, to start considering a sizable tax cut in 1963 as part of a basic revision of the patchwork U.S. tax system. A tax cut almost certainly would mean a calculated budget deficit—to be erased later, hopefully, by the shot in the arm it would give the economy.

Friday: The Kennedy grand strategy.

DiSalle Seeks Conflict of Interest Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle called today for such a law as he pro conflict of interest law on the Ohio statute books.

The governor renewed his efforts for such a law as he prodded his 11th campaign question to his Republican rival for the governorship, state Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The question: "Do you believe that the state of Ohio should have a conflict of interest law for state officials and state employees?"

Since early in his administration, when a Democratic-controlled legislature failed to pass such a law, state employees in the administrative branch have been working under a stringent directive aimed at the same problem.

The Republican-led legislature of 1961 also failed to pass the proposed law covering other branches of the government.

"Every day," DiSalle said, "we see new evidence throughout the group of people. Laws are needed to protect all the people against the excesses of the few."

Senate Estes Probe Slated For June 27

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee will open on June 27 its hearings into the Billie Sol Estes case.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announcing the date today, estimated that 100 witnesses may be called. He said hearings are expected to last "possibly for several weeks."

Estes, the Texas financier who built a financial empire on grain storage, fertilizer sales, cotton growing and other businesses, says he is now bankrupt.

He is under federal indictment for fraud, and state and federal agencies as well as two congressional committees are looking into his activities. A House subcommittee under Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., already has held two days of hearings.

The Senate hearings are expected to be much more extensive, and may last intermittently into the late summer or fall.

McClellan said the first phase opening this month will be based on preliminary investigations by the committee staff "into the activities of Billie Sol Estes, his transactions with the Department of Agriculture, as well as the administrative actions taken by the department in connection therewith."

European Tax, Budget Plans Studied by U.S. Leaders

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Kennedy administration is studying Western Europe's tax, economic and budget policies in an effort to find out what makes Europe run while America walks. Reasons for these studies and their possible bearing on future U.S. fiscal policies are discussed in this third of four articles by AP economic affairs writer Sterling F. Green.

By STERLING F. GREEN
AP Economic Affairs Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is probing the growth possibilities in a European-style policy of neutral federal budgets—less concern over small and temporary deficits, less emphasis each year on surpluses.
President Kennedy has ordered his Council of Economic Advisors to study Western Europe's budget, panding their output twice as fast as the United States. Some have gone beyond "full employment" and now have labor shortages.
Some reasons are evident—the swift development of the Common Market, the rush to raise living standards which still are far below this country's different economic planning. Still other elements have caught the eye of administration economists.

Whether or not these fiscal policies have helped build Europe's visible prosperity can be debated. But the Kennedy administration, now searching for ways to turn a merely satisfactory recovery into a more vigorous one, is intent to find out if it can.

Of special interest are Europe's tax structures, for Kennedy has announced he will send Congress this summer the blueprint for a massive 1963 tax overhaul. There is speculation that it will contain a net tax cut of up to $3 billion. At what points should this tax relief be concentrated to produce maximum growth?

Republicans who blame Kennedy economic policies for the stock market's wild gyrations, already have assailed the European study as "a real Alice-in-wonderland" adventure.

There are ample signs that the study and its director, Chairman Walter W. Heller of the Economic Council, will be the target of GOP campaign speeches throughout the fall congressional election campaign.

The Heller study is expected to propose some changes in the budget itself — the "administrative budget" historically used for federal bookkeeping. Economists have long argued that it is a poor yardstick for measuring the actual impact of federal spending and tax-collecting on the economy.

Heller has indicated he favors a budget which would show the economic effects of the huge government held trust funds, including Social Security.

But Kennedy and Heller are focusing on matters of greater moment than tinkering with the fiscal yardsticks. They want to know for instance, whether a tax cut in 1963 might have the same beneficial effect that the last one had, in 1954. And whether it might be preferable as a stimulant — as Britain seems to believe — to a rapid increase in federal spending.

Historically Americans have expected their government — no matter which party is in power — to budget for a surplus. All too often the surpluses have turned into deficits, but the goal of balancing the budget has been accepted as synonymous with fiscal responsibility.

One aim of the Heller study, some officials here suggest privately, is a public relations purpose—to pave the way for public acceptance of some possible departures from time-honored American fiscal tradition.

That squares with the current hints that Kennedy will ask Congress, to start considering a sizable tax cut in 1963 as part of a basic revision of the patchwork U.S. tax system. A tax cut almost certainly would mean a calculated budget deficit—to be erased later, hopefully, by the shot in the arm it would give the economy.

Friday: The Kennedy grand strategy.

Senate Estes Probe Slated For June 27

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee will open on June 27 its hearings into the Billie Sol Estes case.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announcing the date today, estimated that 100 witnesses may be called. He said hearings are expected to last "possibly for several weeks."

Estes, the Texas financier who built a financial empire on grain storage, fertilizer sales, cotton growing and other businesses, says he is now bankrupt.

He is under federal indictment for fraud, and state and federal agencies as well as two congressional committees are looking into his activities. A House subcommittee under Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., already has held two days of hearings.

The Senate hearings are expected to be much more extensive, and may last intermittently into the late summer or fall.

McClellan said the first phase opening this month will be based on preliminary investigations by the committee staff "into the activities of Billie Sol Estes, his transactions with the Department of Agriculture, as well as the administrative actions taken by the department in connection therewith."

Ohio Idle Pay Total Continues To Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Both new and continued jobless benefit claims continue to drop, the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported today.

New claims for the week ended June 2 were 12,810, compared with 13,826 reported the previous week and the June 1961 average of 15,132. Continued claims for the week ended June 2 were 76,023, down almost 2,000 from the 78,181 the week before. The June 1961 average for continuing claims was 121,805.

DiSalle Seeks Conflict of Interest Law

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle called today for such a law as he probed conflict of interest law on the Ohio statute books.

The governor renewed his efforts for such a law as he probed his 11th campaign question to his Republican rival for the governorship, state Auditor James A. Rhodes.

The question: "Do you believe that the state of Ohio should have a conflict of interest law for state officials and state employees?"

Since early in his administration, when a Democratic-controlled legislature failed to pass such a law, state employees in the administrative branch have been working under a stringent directive aimed at the same problem.

The Republican-led legislature of 1961 also failed to pass the proposed law covering other branches of the government.

"Every day," DiSalle said, "we see new evidence throughout the group of people. Laws are needed to protect all the people against the excesses of the few."

Even More Research Needed

Our present era of scientific pursuit is not without its problems. There are the obvious ones, such as resulted from Scott Carpenter's space flight. But a large number of problems have come to the fore which involve preliminary research and development to a greater extent than they do the finished product.

A special presidential study commission several weeks ago touched on one troublesome area when it presented its report on what to do about the growing complex of research companies which exist almost entirely on government contracts.

The question is not so much what to do as how to do it. What bothers the President, Congress and the Pentagon is the dependency upon government by an increasing number of research and development companies, particularly in the aircraft, missile and electronic fields.

These companies recruit top research and engineering talent and provide a valuable pool of skill for the complex areas of modern weaponry. After the research companies invent and develop an idea to the point of production, contracts are offered for the manufacture of the item.

It is in the area of letting the contracts for manufacture that most of the delicacy arises in this public-private relationship. The development company generally has the advantage in also gaining the manufacturing contract and thereby opening the door to possibilities of collusion, padding of research contracts to gain a head start on manufacturing processes, and otherwise taking advantage of close relationship between government officials and private laboratories.

This was the area of military-industrial complexes referred to by President Eisenhower in his final speech to the nation while President, and it is the one most commented upon by the commission in its report to President Kennedy.

"The present situation, therefore," warned the commission, "is one in which a large group of economically significant and technologically advanced industries depend for their existence and growth not on the open competitive market of traditional economic theory, but on sales only to the United States government."

All indications point to a need for even greater research and development activities, not only in the military but in space adventures as well, in the future. It is timely for the Pentagon to develop adequate means of protecting both industry and the government from the taint of favoritism in this important cooperative effort.

A Remembrance of D-Day

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — In our crowded world there is little time for remembrance.

So it was this week the 18th anniversary of the Allied D-Day landings in Normandy caught me by surprise.

Then the feeling of surprise gave way to a feeling of guilt. How, even after 18 years, could I for a moment forget the incidents of that mighty hour?

I went into the kitchen and from a cabinet pulled out an old and time-lovely silver dish, made by a fine craftsman centuries ago.

Things tie us to our past, and this small silver dish is my souvenir of D-Day.

On that fateful morning that now seems so long ago I was in an encampment outside Winchester in southern England. Our group of correspondents was scheduled to go ashore the following day with Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, the American field commander.

Waiting was hard. A number of us went into town. We entered famous old Winchester Cathedral, one of the world's most beautiful beings. Some of us who weren't used to saying prayers said prayers then. Leaving, we passed a small antique shop. I saw this lovely silver dish in the window, and went in and bought it for my wife. But it has become a bridge across time for me.

Later we went to the nearest port and interviewed the first surviving casualties as they were ferried back from France. Their stories were true and awful.

On subsequent days through long months it was my privilege to help chronicle the unfolding splendor of our men's defeat of the German juggernaut.

It is hard now for me to realize that the great sea armada that forged our landing in France has long since been dismantled. That the vehicles on which we rode to victory are rust. That the armies of men who wielded so tremendous a purpose are forever time-scattered and can never be bled together again, not at least as they were then in their prime.

On the morning of the 18th anniversary of D-Day, after looking again at my souvenir silver dish, I went into my living room. I pulled from a shelf a book called

"Brave Men," written by a brave, dear dead friend named Ernie Pyle.

I opened it at random, and these words caught my eye:

"We have won this war because our men are brave, and because of many other things—because of Russia, and England, and the passage of time, and the gift of nature's materials. We did not win it because destiny created us better than all other peoples. I hope that in victory we are more grateful than we are proud. I hope we can rejoice in victory—but humbly. The dead men would not want us to boast."

"All of us together will have to learn how to reassemble our broken world into a pattern so firm and so fair that another great war cannot soon be possible. To tell the simple truth, most of us over in France don't pretend to know the right answer. Subversion in war does not necessarily qualify a man to be the master of the peace. All we can do is fumble and try once more—try out of the memory of our anguish—and be as tolerant with each other as we can."

By George Sokolsky

The Anticipated Trend

Thelma B. Wright, whose address is not on her letter, writes me "In your column in the Herald Examiner, May 9th regarding the King Anderson bill, I wish to say, that it is a pity, that one of your four major illnesses, did not prove fatal. As far as I can see you would be no loss to the community."

"You have the colossal nerve, to say that people who cannot afford medical care etc., are in that predicament, due to 'shiftlessness' and profligacy."

"All I can say Sir, is 'drop dead.'"

This letter, which is the acme of human kindness, is a very intelligent addition to a serious discussion of an important current political problem. But it is indicative of the enormous change that has taken place in our society — the bitterness over the Welfare State has the assumption that Horatio Alger was all wrong — that thrift is a wicked practice; that spending up to the last penny is sound. Of course, when so large a share of everyone's earnings go to taxes, federal, state and local, it is difficult to save.

Nevertheless, this nation was built by thrift. It was built by the expenditure of private funds, patiently saved and invested, not for hasty profits but for permanent growth. Most of the large companies started as small ones and grew by putting earnings back into growth and by selling participation to those who had saved their money.

Let us have a look at this situation from the standpoint of the stock market panic. The small man, who bought a hundred or so shares on margin and who has probably been wiped out, calculated for some time that he was the owner of, let us say, $1,500 which is now gone.

The economists may say that such a man did not lose that $1,500

because he never had it. They may say that he imagined that he had that money because he read in the newspapers or on the ticker that his particular stock was worth that amount of money, less taxes, if sold on a certain day.

However, this man did believe that he had $1,500 and he lived accordingly. He bought a car on time; he bought a refrigerator on time; he bought his wife a fur coat on time. He felt fine. He figured that as he got some more money he would buy more things on time. That $1,500 multiplied itself many times, perhaps 10 or 15 times — and all on time.

Now, he has lost that $1,500, imaginary or otherwise, and he will have to meet his obligations out of his salary. For a year or two, he will be cautious. He is not going to take a tour on his vacation but will stay at home and cut the grass. Go up the line to the man who lost $15,000 or $20,000 and the situation is even worse. That man is frightened and he is looking for a scapegoat, just as during the 1929 panic, he looked for a scapegoat.

He will not, of course blame himself. That is too much to ask of any man. He will not say that his judgement was bad; that he got into a game which he did not understand; that he was a gambler and speculator and was caught short by the debacle. He must say to himself that he is an acme of wisdom and that someone plotted his defeat. He wants the government to do something about it.

Unless stocks are bought for investment, there must be an element of gamble in them. It is absurd to believe that a free enterprise system can exist without loss. Where there is a profit, there must be the possibility of a loss. Only in the Welfare State is it possible to guarantee persons against loss, but such a guarantee must lead to state control of business. If the state guarantees a business against loss, it must eventually take over the business.

The trouble with the thinking of Thelma B. Wright and many others is that they demand government guarantees for themselves from the cradle to the grave but reject the consequences of their demands. The ultimate consequence could be a socialist state. It must be anticipated that the trend is toward a Welfare State in this country and that the opposition to it is trifling.

"Time does fly, doesn't it? It's hard to believe I've aged twenty years since he was born!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A BOARD a luxury liner bound from Le Havre to New York, one elderly first-class passenger was boasting to a chance acquaintance of comparable vintage, about a wonderful new watering spot he had discovered in Austria. "I don't know what chemical qualities the water there contains," he declared, "but I do know it's guaranteed to take twenty years off of anybody's life."

When the acquaintance registered acute skepticism, the elderly gentleman produced his clinching argument. "You'll believe me," he crowed, "when I tell you of my own experience there. I arrived with a beautiful female friend who was 18 years old — and in three days she disappeared!"

"How can you say you're lonesome?" soothed a mother to a 3-year-old who didn't like to go to sleep in the dark. "You're really not alone at all. God is with you, and you have your two favorite dolls right in bed beside you." "I know," sobbed the little girl, "but I want somebody with skin on their face."

Inside You and Yours

Q. Can lecithin cure arthritis?
A. No. Lecithin — a natural fatty chemical — emulsifies fatty oils. Inflamed or worn-out joints aren't rusty. Don't let anyone give you that old oil!

Q. Do I need wheat germ to supply vitamin E?
A. No. Vegetable oils, green leafy plants, meat, eggs and dairy products are chock-full of vitamin E. Who needs wheat germ?

Q. How good is Royal Jelly?
A. Ideal for queen bees; worthless for ordinary people!

Q. I've just lost 40 pounds. Can exercise or vitamins tone up the flabby flesh hanging loosely on my arms.
A. A lightning weight loss doesn't give the skin a chance to shrink. You wind up too small for your limp flesh while it shrinks to size. Older skin is less shrinkable. Another reason to slim down while you're young!

Q. The Department of Agriculture shows that most food loses nutritional value during processing, cooking and storage. Why don't you advise food supplements?
A. The Department's Food Year Book explains that, even after all this loss, food provides more than you need. Newer processing methods are helping to preserve much nutritional value that used to be lost.

Q. What are inexpensive meat substitutes?
A. Dry beans and peas; Swiss, Cheddar and cottage cheese; eggs and poultry. Also fish, if you live on the coast.

Q. Food supplements prevent cancer, stroke, hepatitis and heart attacks. Don't you believe in prevention?
A. Yes — the prevention of unnecessary expense!

Food supplements aren't cure-alls. You need none if your daily menu includes at least 1 pint of milk; 2 servings of meat or meat substitutes; 4 servings of fruit and vegetable — including 1 yellow or green leafy vegetable and 1 citrus fruit and 4 servings of enriched or whole wheat bread or cereal.

If you don't buy your food at the candy counter, you won't have to buy supplements at the drug counter!

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The Common Market's impact on the rest of the world is suddenly mushrooming all over the front pages. A small trade war is threatened between the trading bloc and the United States over carpet and glass tariffs on our part and certain chemicals, paints and textiles on the part of the six European nations. Australia, New Zealand, Canada, India, Pakistan—all are protesting the possible loss to them if Britain joins the Common Market at the expense of abandoning preferential treatment for nations of the British Commonwealth.

Even the Communist countries are debating in Moscow today how to counteract the growing power of the Common Market in Western Europe that is crippling their trade.

The impact is felt on political as well as trade policies, on domestic as well as foreign programs.

The U.S. Congress is deep in a tariff debate. The central question: how best the United States can deal with the Common Market threat or take advantage of its promise of expanded trade if we cooperate.

The British government may face a political crisis as opposing parties take sides, even split amongst themselves, on the commonwealth problem.

Soviet policies may well be affected. Many of the Common Market inroads involve trade with the satellites rather than with Russia itself. The Soviet Union has been selling crude oil and certain types of steel to Western Europe at prices well below what its satellites must pay.

In all parts of the world, including the Common Market itself, the current problems are fluid. It is this uncertainty as to the final direction that upsets business and politicians most.

For the Common Market isn't a complete thing yet by any means. Quarrels over treatment of agricultural products still divide the six members—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

And still very much in doubt is what progress they may make towards some form of political as well as trade unity. Age-old national and racial differences are proving hard to surmount.

But for all its unsolved problems and the uncertainties about its final form, the Common Market is a very solid fact today.

The current danger is that failure to come to terms with it on tariffs, import quotas and currency or other trade barriers could divide the Western world into warring trade blocs.

It's this danger that spices the political debates on both sides of the Atlantic, both sides of the Pacific, and perhaps within the walls of the Kremlin.

Even More Research Needed

Our present era of scientific pursuit is not without its problems. There are the obvious ones, such as resulted from Scott Carpenter's space flight. But a large number of problems have come to the fore which involve preliminary research and development to a greater extent than they do the finished product.

A special presidential study commission several weeks ago touched on one troublesome area when it presented its report on what to do about the growing complex of research companies which exist almost entirely on government contracts.

The question is not so much what to do as how to do it. What bothers the President, Congress and the Pentagon is the dependency upon government by an increasing number of research and development companies, particularly in the aircraft, missile and electronic fields.

These companies recruit top research and engineering talent and provide a valuable pool of skill for the complex areas of modern weaponry. After the research companies invent and develop an idea to the point of production, contracts are offered for the manufacture of the item.

It is in the area of letting the contracts for manufacture that most of the delicacy arises in this public-private relationship. The development company generally has the advantage in also gaining the manufacturing contract and thereby opening the door to possibilities of collusion, padding of research contracts to gain a head start on manufacturing processes, and otherwise taking advantage of close relationship between government officials and private laboratories.

This was the area of military-industrial complexes referred to by President Eisenhower in his final speech to the nation while President, and it is the one most commented upon by the commission in its report to President Kennedy.

"The present situation, therefore," warned the commission, "is one in which a large group of economically significant and technologically advanced industries depend for their existence and growth not on the open competitive market of traditional economic theory, but on sales only to the United States government."

All indications point to a need for even greater research and development activities, not only in the military but in space adventures as well, in the future. It is timely for the Pentagon to develop adequate means of protecting both industry and the government from the taint of favoritism in this important cooperative effort.

A Remembrance of D-Day

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — In our crowded world there is little time for remembrance.

So it was this week the 18th anniversary of the Allied D-Day landings in Normandy caught me by surprise.

Then the feeling of surprise gave way to a feeling of guilt. How, even after 18 years, could I for a moment forget the incidents of that mighty hour?

I went into the kitchen and from a cabinet pulled out an old and time-lovely silver dish, made by a fine craftsman centuries ago. Things tie us to our past, and this small silver dish is my souvenir of D-Day.

On that fateful morning that now seems so long ago I was in an encampment outside Winchester in southern England. Our group of correspondents was scheduled to go ashore the following day with Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, the American field commander.

Waiting was hard. A number of us went into town.

We entered famous old Winchester Cathedral, one of the world's most beautiful beings. I pulled from a shelf a book called saying prayers said prayers then. Leaving, we passed a small antique shop. I saw this lovely silver dish in the window, and went in and bought it for my wife. But it has become a bridge across time for me.

Later we went to the nearest port and interviewed the first surviving casualties as they were ferried back from France. Their stories were true and awful.

On subsequent days through long months it was my privilege to help chronicle the unfolding splendor of our men's defeat of the German juggernaut.

It is hard now for me to realize that the great sea armada that forged our landing in France has long since been dismantled. That the vehicles on which we rode to victory are rust. That the armies of men who wielded so tremendous a purpose are forever time-scattered and can never be bugled together again, not at least as they were then in their prime.

On the morning of the 18th anniversary of D-Day, after looking again at my souvenir silver dish, I went into my living room. I pulled from a shelf a book called

"Brave Men," written by a brave, dear dead friend named Ernie Pyle.

I opened it at random, and these words caught my eye:

"We have won this war because our men are brave, and because of many other things—because of Russia, and England, and the passage of time, and the gift of nature's materials. We did not win it because destiny created us better than all other peoples. I hope that in victory we are more grateful than we are proud. I hope we can rejoice in victory—but humbly. The dead men would not want us to gloat."

"All of us together will have to learn how to reassemble our broken world into a pattern so firm and so fair that another great war cannot soon be possible. To tell the simple truth, most of us over in France don't pretend to know the right answer. Submersion in war does not necessarily qualify a man to be the master of the peace. All we can do is fumble and try once more—try out of the memory of our anguish—and be as tolerant with each other as we can."

The Anticipated Trend

Thelma B. Wright, whose address is not on her letter, writes me "In your column in the Herald Examiner, May 9th regarding the King Anderson bill, I wish to say that it is a pity, that one of your four major illnesses, die not prove fatal. As far as I can see you would be no loss to the community."

"You have the colossal nerve, to say that people who cannot afford medical care etc., are in that predicament, due to 'shiftlessness' and profligacy."

"All I can say Sir, is 'drop dead.'"

This letter, which is the acme of human kindness, is a very intelligent addition to a serious discussion of an important current political problem. But it is indicative of the enormous change that has taken place in our society — the bitterness over the Welfare State has the assumption that Horatio Alger was all wrong — that theft is a wicked practice; that spending up to the last penny is sound. Of course, when so large a share of everyone's earnings go to taxes, federal, state and local, it is difficult to save.

Nevertheless, this nation was built by thrift. It was built by the expenditure of private funds, patiently saved and invested, not for hasty profits but for permanent growth. Most of the large companies started as small ones and grew by putting earnings back into growth and by selling participation to those who had saved their money.

Let us have a look at this situation from the standpoint of the stock market panic. The small man, who bought a hundred or so shares on margin and who has probably been wiped out, calculated for some time that he was the owner of, let us say, $1,500 which is now gone.

The economists may say that such a man did not lose that $1,500

because he never had it. They may say that he imagined that he had that money because he read in the newspapers or on the ticker that his particular stock was worth that amount of money, less taxes, if sold on a certain day.

However, this man did believe that he had $1,500 and he lived accordingly. He bought a car on time; he bought a refrigerator on time; he bought his wife a fur coat on time. He felt fine. He figured that as he got some more money he would buy more things on time. That $1,500 multiplied itself many times, perhaps 10 or 15 times — and all on time.

Now, he has lost that $1,500, imaginary or otherwise, and he will have to meet his obligations out of his salary. For a year or two, he will be cautious. He is not going to take a tour on his vacation but will stay at home and cut the grass. Go up the line to the man who lost $15,000 or $20,000 and the situation is even worse. That man is frightened and he is looking for a scapegoat, just as during the 1929 panic, he looked for a scapegoat.

He will not, of course blame himself. That is too much to ask of any man. He will not say that his judgement was bad; that he got into a game which he did not understand; that he was a gambler and speculator and was caught short by the debacle. He may say to himself that he is an acme of wisdom and that someone plotted his defeat. He wants the government to do something about it.

Unless stocks are bought for investment, there must be an element of gamble in them. It is absurd to believe that a free enterprise system can exist without loss. Where there is a profit, there must be the possibility of a loss. Only in the Welfare State is it possible to guarantee persons against loss, but such a guarantee must lead to state control of business. If the state guarantees a business against loss, it must eventually take over the business.

The trouble with the thinking of Thelma B. Wright and many others is that they demand government guarantees for themselves from the cradle to the grave but reject the consequences of their demands. The ultimate consequence could be a socialist state.

It must be anticipated that the trend is toward a Welfare State in this country and that the opposition to it is trifling.

"Time does fly, doesn't it? It's hard to believe I've aged twenty years since he was born!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

ABOARD a luxury liner bound from Le Havre to New York, one elderly first-class passenger was boasting to a chance acquaintance of comparable vintage, about a wonderful new watering spot he had discovered in Austria. "I don't know what chemical qualities the water there contains," he declared, "but I do know it's guaranteed to take twenty years off of anybody's life."

When the acquaintance registered acute skepticism, the elderly gentleman produced his clinching argument. "You'll believe me," he crowed, "when I tell you of my own experience there. I arrived with a beautiful female friend who was 18 years old — and in three days she disappeared!"

"How can you say you're lonesome?" soothed a mother to a 3-year-old who didn't like to go to sleep in the dark. "You're really not alone at all. God is with you, and you have your two favorite dolls right in bed beside you." "I know," sobbed the little girl, "but I want somebody with skin on their face."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Q. Can lecithin cure arthritis?
A. No. Lecithin — a natural fatty chemical — emulsified fatty oils. Inflamed or worn-out joints aren't rusty. Don't let anyone give you that old oil!

Q. Do I need wheat germ to supply vitamin E?
A. No. Vegetable oils, green leafy plants, meat, eggs and dairy products are chock-full of vitamin E. Who needs wheat germ?

Q. How good is Royal Jelly?
A. Ideal for queen bees; worthless for ordinary people!

Q. I've just lost 40 pounds. Can exercise or vitamins tone up the flabby flesh hanging loosely on my arms.
A. A lightning weight loss doesn't give the skin a chance to shrink. You wind up too small for your limp flesh while it shrinks to size. Older skin is less shrinkable. Another reason to slim down while you're young!

Q. The Department of Agriculture shows that most food loses nutritional value during processing, cooking and storage. Why don't you advise food supplements?
A. The Department's Food Year Book explains that, even after all this loss, food provides more than you need. Newer processing methods are helping to preserve much nutritional value that used to be lost.

Q. What are inexpensive meat substitutes?
A. Dry beans and peas; Swiss, Cheddar and cottage cheese; eggs and poultry. Also fish, if you live on the coast.

Q. Food supplements prevent cancer, stroke, hepatitis and heart attacks. Don't you believe in prevention?
A. Yes — the prevention of unnecessary expense!

Food supplements aren't cure-alls. You need none if your daily menu includes at least 1 pint of milk; 2 servings of meat or meat substitutes; 4 servings of fruit and vegetable — including 1 yellow or green leafy vegetable and 1 citrus fruit and 4 servings of enriched or whole wheat bread or cereal.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — The Common Market's impact on the rest of the world is suddenly mushrooming all over the front pages.

A small trade war is threatened between the trading bloc and the United States over carpet and glass tariffs on our part and certain chemicals, paints and textiles on the part of the six European nations.

Australia, New Zealand, Canada, India, Pakistan—all are protesting the possible loss to them if Britain joins the Common Market at the expense of abandoning preferential treatment for nations of the British Commonwealth.

Even the Communist countries are debating in Moscow today how to counteract the growing power of the Common Market in Western Europe that is crippling their trade.

The impact is felt on political as well as trade policies, on domestic as well as foreign programs.

The U.S. Congress is deep in a tariff debate. The central question: how best the United States can deal with the Common Market threat or take advantage of its promise of expanded trade if we cooperate.

The British government may face a political crisis as opposing parties take sides, even split amongst themselves, on the commonwealth problem.

Soviet policies may well be affected. Many of the Common Market inroads involve trade with the satellites rather than with Russia itself. The Soviet Union has been selling crude oil and certain types of steel to Western Europe at prices well below what its satellites must pay.

In all parts of the world, including the Common Market itself, the current problems are fluid. It is this uncertainty as to the final direction that upsets business and politicians most.

For the Common Market isn't a complete thing yet by any means. Quarrels over treatment of agricultural products still divide the six members—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

And still very much in doubt is what progress they may make towards some form of political as well as trade unity. Age-old national and racial differences are proving hard to surmount.

But for all its unsolved problems and the uncertainties about its final form, the Common Market is a very solid fact today.

The current danger is that failure to come to terms with it on tariffs, import quotas and currency or other trade barriers could divide the Western world into warring trade blocs.

It's this danger that spices the political debates on both sides of the Atlantic, both sides of the Pacific, and perhaps within the walls of the Kremlin.

Recipes often call for slicing green beans in 1 inch diagonal lengths. After washing (and scrubbing) the beans in cold water, drain. Stack three or four beans together and slice into the desired lengths. Cutting several beans at one time in this way saves time.

Ohio Mother Wins Custody Of Daughter

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A court has ordered 11-year-old Anne Sandage restored to her mother's home at Oxford, Ohio, but her father says he'll transfer his fight for her custody to Ohio courts.

Dr. Curtis Sandage, 42, a Kansas City bacteriologist, also faces child stealing charges in Ohio for whisking his brilliant, emotional daughter away from her school at Oxford Feb. 8.

He sought legal custody in a Kansas City court action on the ground that Mrs. Irma Sandage, 41, a psychiatric social worker, has neglected to provide proper supervision for the girl. Dr. and Mrs. Sandage were divorced in 1959.

Judge Joe H. Swinehart, after hearing evidence off and on for more than a month, decided Wednesday that Sandage failed to prove his charge and Anne would be better off with her mother.

Anne told her father goodbye, tearfully, in a court anteroom and left with her mother. They were smiling and arm in arm.

After bidding goodbye to Anne, Sandage approached Judge Swinehart and said:

"Do you know what you have done? I suppose it was based on law, but it was cold . . ."

Dear Abby: Get Thee Behind Her, Satan

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks after we were married my husband joined the Air Force. He was sent overseas almost immediately and will be gone a year. Before he left he asked his brother to look after me so I wouldn't be lonely. The brother is two years older than my husband and looks and acts enough like him to pass for his twin. I find myself thinking romantically about my brother-in-law. I love my husband and don't want to hurt him. I could close my eyes and think his brother was my husband. What should I do?

ONLY HUMAN
DEAR ONLY: Keep your eyes open. Wide open.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister, who lives in Germany, sent him a violin in 1914. It belonged to his grandfather, who got it from his father, so we know it has been in the family for over 100 years. When it came it was battered, but we had it refinished and it looks like new. We wrote to different people asking where to take it to have the value assessed and nobody answered. A friend of ours, who played with the Detroit Symphony, saw it and played it and said it had a marvelous tone. He wanted to buy it but we didn't want it to go out of our family for sentimental reasons. Inside the violin, printed on a piece of paper, not the wood itself, is:

"ANTONIUS STRADIVARIUS FACIEBAT ANNO 1732"
Is this worth anything?

MRS. M. M.
DEAR Mrs. M. M.: Run, don't talk, to your telephone directory and look in the yellow pages for dealers in antique violins. Take your violin to several and you will soon find out if yours is a genuine Stradivarius. If it is, you have a real treasure. And no fiddling around.

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his young wife have a four-month-old son. They also have a female cat. This animal is allowed the freedom of the house. She is on the chairs, sofa, tables, and even jumps into the baby's crib and sleeps with him at night. I worry that the cat might suffocate the baby. Is there any truth to that? Both parents have had ringworm from this cat?

WORRIED GRAM
DEAR WORRIED: Advise your son to ask his doctor about cats sleeping with babies. Especially a cat which has given him and his wife "ringworm." If your son doesn't follow through, YOU do it. Your son and his wife appear as though they should be raising cats, not children.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GENE'S WIFE": Don't try to change the spots on a 66-year-old leopard.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

New-Born Hippo Is Pride of Zoo

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—St. Louis Zoo officials are smiling proudly over the first hippopotamus born at the zoo—a 50-pounder which is nuzzling closely to its huge parents.

Acting zoo director Henry Sanders said, "A more perfect family you couldn't ask for."

The baby's mother is a 3,000-pound hippo named Peepers and its papa a 4,000-pounder named Jeepers.

Junior could swim at birth and hasn't been out of the water. Sanders said the baby won't learn to walk for several more days.

MRS. CARL CATHEL JR.

Miss Follrod and Mr. Cathel Are United in Marriage

The Darbyville Methodist Church was the setting for the double ring wedding of Miss Anita Louise Follrod and Mr. Carl Cathel Jr. The Rev. Lawrence Martindale performed the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Follrod, Route 1, Williamsport. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Cathel Sr., Route 1, Orient.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length princess style gown. The lace bodice was designed with a scalloped neckline and the skirt of tiered net ruffles was accented by a front panel of lace. A pearl crown held her elbow length veil and she carried an arrangement of baby carnations centered with two orchids.

Miss Linda Follrod, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a dress of pink lace and chignon over taffeta and she carried a bouquet of white baby carnations.

Mr. Larry Eitel served as best man. Ushers were Mr. Jacob Follrod Jr. and Mr. Marion Cathel.

A reception was held in the auditorium of Mühlenberg Twp. School following the ceremony.

The couple is residing at 572 Gilbert St., Columbus.

Banquet at Pickaway Twp. Attended by 170 Guests

The Pickaway Township annual Alumni Banquet was conducted at the Pickaway Twp. School gym with 170 present. The theme of the evening celebrated the 50th anniversary of the centralizing of Pickaway Twp. Schools.

The honored group was the class of 1912 which graduated 25 years ago. Charles Mowery Jr. was spokesman for the class.

Toastmaster for the evening was George Wilson, professor of music at Ohio State University. The program consisted of vocal numbers by the five Wilson Brothers, Logan Elm Ensemble, and Barbara Brown who also led group singing.

The business portion of the evening was conducted by John Musselman, president. The newly elected officers for the coming year are: Freda Hulse, president; Lawrence McKenzie, vice president; Mrs. Carolyn Young, secretary; Mrs. Roselyn Eccard, secretary; and Ronnie List, treasurer.

A turkey dinner was served by the Kingston MYF Mothers.

The remainder of the evening was spent visiting and dancing. Dick Layman's Band from Lancaster provided the music.

Members of the entertainment committee were John Musselman, Freda Hulse, Edgar Harall, Evelyn England and Dano Estell.

The decorating committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie and family and Mrs. Harry Wright.

Recipes often call for slicing green beans in 1 inch diagonal lengths. After washing (and scrubbing) the beans in cold water, drain. Stack three or four beans together and slice into the desired lengths. Cutting several beans at one time in this way saves time.

Ohio Mother Wins Custody Of Daughter

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A court has ordered 11-year-old Anne Sandage restored to her mother's home at Oxford, Ohio, but her father says he'll transfer his fight for her custody to Ohio courts.

Dr. Curtis Sandage, 42, a Kansas City bacteriologist, also faces child stealing charges in Ohio for whisking his brilliant, emotional daughter away from her school at Oxford Feb. 8.

He sought legal custody in a Kansas City court action on the ground that Mrs. Irma Sandage, 41, a psychiatric social worker, has neglected to provide proper supervision for the girl. Dr. and Mrs. Sandage were divorced in 1959.

Judge Joe H. Swinehart, after hearing evidence off and on for more than a month, decided Wednesday that Sandage failed to prove his charge and Anne would be better off with her mother.

Anne told her father goodbye, tearfully, in a court anteroom and left with her mother. They were smiling and arm in arm.

After bidding goodbye to Anne, Sandage approached Judge Swinehart and said:

"Do you know what you have done? I suppose it was based on law, but it was cold . . ."

Mrs. Smith invited the group to her home for the next meeting, July 10.

A salad dessert was served by the hostess. The music from an old Edison phonograph provided enjoyable entertainment for the group.

Sunday Closing Law Upheld on Appeal

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 9th District Court of Appeals has upheld a ruling against Morris Rappoport, manager of a discount store in North Ridgeville accused of violating the Sunday closing law. Rappoport had appealed to the district court after he was found guilty July 17, 1961, after a three-day trial in Elyria.

Dear Abby: Get Thee Behind Her, Satan

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Three weeks after we were married my husband joined the Air Force. He was sent overseas almost immediately and will be gone a year. Before he left he asked his brother to look after me so I wouldn't be lonely. The brother is two years older than my husband and looks and acts enough like him to pass for his twin. I find myself thinking romantically about my brother-in-law. I love my husband and don't want to hurt him. I could close my eyes and think his brother was my husband. What should I do?

ONLY HUMAN

DEAR ONLY: Keep your eyes open. Wide open.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister, who lives in Germany, sent him a violin in 1914. It belonged to his grandfather, who got it from his grandfather, so we know it has been in the family for over 100 years. When it came it was battered, but we had it refinished and it looks like new. We wrote to different people asking where to take it to have the value assessed and nobody answered. A friend of ours, who played with the Detroit Symphony, saw it and played it and said it had a marvelous tone. He wanted to buy it but we didn't want it to go out of our family for sentimental reasons. Inside the violin, printed on a piece of paper, not the wood itself, is:

"ANTONIUS STRADIVARIUS FACIEBAT ANNON 1732"

Is this worth anything?

MRS. M. M.: Run, don't talk, to your telephone directory and look in the yellow pages for dealers in antique violins. Take your violin to several and you will soon find out if yours is a genuine Stradivarius. If it is, you have a real treasure. And no fiddling around.

DEAR ABBY: Our son and his young wife have a four-month-old son. They also have a female cat. This animal is allowed the freedom of the house. She is on the chairs, sofa, tables, and even jumps into the baby's crib and sleeps with him at night. I worry that the cat might suffocate the baby. Is there any truth to that? Both parents have had ringworm from this cat?

WORRIED GRAM

DEAR WORRIED: Advise your son to ask his doctor about cats sleeping with babies. Especially a cat which has given him and his wife "ringworm." If your son doesn't follow through, YOU do it. Your son and his wife appear as though they should be raising cats, not children.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "GENE'S WIFE": Don't try to change the spots on a 66-year-old leopard.

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

New-Born Hippo Is Pride of Zoo

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—St. Louis Zoo officials are smiling proudly over the first hippopotamus born at the zoo—a 50-pounder which is nuzzling closely to its huge parents.

Acting zoo director Henry Sanders said, "A more perfect family you couldn't ask for."

The baby's mother is a 3,000-pound hippo named Peepers and its papa a 4,000-pounder named Jeepers.

Junior could swim at birth and hasn't been out of the water. Sanders said the baby won't learn to walk for several more days.

Garden Gossip

Mr. and Mrs. George Gentzel occupy an old stage coach tavern. It is located at 210 Lancaster Pike. The Gentzels trained some fragrant old-fashioned June roses to form an archway over the old tavern door.

George Gentzel brings the old tavern days back in a very realistic way by showing visitors just where the coaches drew up to the door.

Quite in keeping with the place is a big old iron kettle filled with flowers. And in back was a thriving vegetable garden with—of all things—an old scare crow! Gentzel says the starlings eat his young plants if he doesn't have something to scare them off.

Clyde Eakin, Route 1, told me it was only city "fellers" who had time for vegetable gardens. He's about right, too.

BUT Wilbur Mast, Ringgold Pike, claims he likes his home-grown vegetables. The Mast farm is on a busy highway. From strawberry time to gourd and ornamental corn time, the Masts are selling things at their roadside stand.

Speaking of roadside stands, the Rhoads family has a stand on Route 56 about a mile east of town. The whole family takes turns working at the market. According to Mike, 9-years-old, he and his brother, Brent, 14, both like working at the stand. Their Mom and Dad take turns and even Grandpa Friece does a stint.

Mrs. Frances Chaffin on Route 56 sells her garden surplus to advantage. The mother of the auctioneer, Mrs. Chaffin is one of the county's very fine gardeners.

S. G. Rader, 105 Northridge Road, is a veteran at growing vegetables. His is a large garden, but Rader says the surplus is canned.

There's always activity at the Lloyd Petty farm. Right now it's bulldozers getting after the Osage orange hedge.

Someday, we'll all be bulldozing out the multiflora rose hedges. They are pretty and they do indeed provide shelter for wild life. But any uncultivated woods or meadows you may have will eventually become multiflora rose nurseries. Our own woods is full of young plants.

LYMAN PENN has a beautiful multiflora rose hedge on his farm. Some of his roses are a rare shade of wild rose pink.

Mrs. Herman Davis who lives in the tenant house on the Lyman Penn farm is going ahead with her roadside project again this year. She plants the slope across the road from the house in zinnias. She plants it and keeps it weeded. The highway workmen cooperate in every way they can.

Mrs. Orion King, W. High St., is revamping her iris beds. She is making space for some of the new varieties of iris.

The little evergreens in the Eugene Hanson yard were Christmas trees. Planting Christmas trees is a hazardous practice. But such a precious idea! And when they do grow, what sentiment one must feel towards them!

Mrs. Charles Mootz, Frankfort, had lots of purple salvia in her garden this spring. She has had it a long time. It comes in violet and orchid shades.

Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner had the first purple salvia I ever saw. I fell in love with it. It's a coarse-leaved spiked plant.

THE LANDSCAPE contingent that writes books on the subject has a lot to say about keeping the flowers in back.

I must admit the garden editor would be out of luck if everybody abided by this rule.

For instance as I whizzed by the Doyle Painter home the other day I glimpsed the loveliest of color combinations in a planting in front of the house. I'm not sure, but I think it consisted of blue love-in-the-mist and pink peonies.

Blue and pink in combination are very Marie Antoinette-ish. But there are actually very few true blue flowers. Come to think of it, my own love-in-the-mist blooms much later.

Ordinarily I have thousands of spider plant seedlings each spring. This year I do not have that first one. I thought it was the hard winter, but a neighbor has lots of seedling plants.

Speaking of flower gardens in the back—that's where Mrs. Donald Watt, N. Court St., has her garden. She has Fashion roses planted along her driveway and they lure the eye of the passerby into the direction of the garden.

DR. JOE GOELLER was a recent visitor in the Lloyd Bartley garden. When he viewed the collection of violets there he said it was hard to believe some of the plants with the un-violet-like leaves were really violets. He knew better, however, than to challenge Bartley in regard as to what is a violet and what is not.

The Robert A. Jones family on the Stoutsville Pike has a very promising vegetable garden. This is a case of "action and reaction" I remember all too well that Rob-

Mrs. McGuire and Daughters

Trellis Roses at McGuires Are Produced from Cuttings

The rose trellis at the Jack McGuire home, 833 Atwater Ave., is indeed a thing of beauty when it is in full bloom.

A white trellis, it is covered, and I do mean covered, with a Blase climber and a dark pink climber which Mrs. McGuire could not identify.

The two roses met overhead and intertwined. Blooming at exactly the same time the red and the dark pink contrasted interestingly.

We believe the dark pink to be ert A., as a boy, was decidedly allergic to the working end of the hoe. You see, he is my son. How things do change!

Mrs. Carl Justice was gathering cattail foliage for a girl scout weaving project which will be undertaken at day camp. It was a hard job to gather the cattail foliage.

Anybody falling in love with the cattail weaving project may find all the cattail foliage she wants at our pond. We'll be beholdin' to you for picking it. Just hope you get some roots while you're at it!

the climbing American Beauty, rose which never fails to put on a magnificent performance. Mrs. McGuire's unidentified rose gave just such a performance. Some of the big roses had stems a foot long or more.

Mrs. McGuire is a former 4H member. As a youngster she learned how to propagate roses from cuttings. Both of these are climbers which she grew from cutting.

MRS. McGuire says she takes a rose stem where it angles off a branch, strips the leaves off and plants it fairly deep. She keeps it watered and after so long a time the cuttings take root.

No, she does not put a mason jar over her cuttings. She leaves them in the ground where they are rooting for a couple of years then moves them to their permanent places.

The whole family is justifiably proud of the rose trellis. When roses fade they are snipped off one by one so that the rose trellis looks fresh during the entire blooming season.

A nest of cardinals was hatching in the rose trellis. But visitors did not seem to disturb the birds who went about their business.

AMA Contends Medicare Bill, Not AMA, Is on Trial Now

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association, answering President Kennedy's challenge to "set the record straight," says the King-Anderson medical care bill—not the AMA—is on trial.

The exchange was the latest development in the administration-AMA dispute over a plan for medical care for the aged.

President Kennedy, in a letter to Dr. Leonard W. Larson, AMA president, cited past actions Kennedy said indicate the AMA's opposition to the Social Security system.

The President's letter Tuesday was in reply to a message Larson sent Kennedy last month charging the President had created the impression the AMA had called Social Security a "cruel hoax" and was among opponents of its enactment in the 1930s.

Larson's letter said, in part, "President Kennedy made the statement in his May 23 news conference that the AMA was one of the chief opponents of the Social Security system in the '30s'.

"This statement is false. 'The American Medical Association did not oppose enactment of the Social Security system, but what may have been said at some later time is extraneous to the accusation the President made on May 23.'

"Furthermore, I want to emphasize that past history of the AMA has nothing to do with the merits of the King-Anderson bill.

"The King-Anderson bill is on trial, not the AMA."

Kennedy in his letter said if the AMA did not oppose Social Security before its enactment—only afterward—he would point out "this unique distinction at my next press conference."

"On the other hand," Kennedy wrote, "if the AMA has never opposed Social Security, some questions may be asked in order to set the record straight."

Among Kennedy's questions were, "why the AMA in 1949 sent to all members of Congress a resolution approved by its House of Delegates calling Social Security a 'compulsory socialistic tax' and 'why the AMA House of Delegates declared in 1953 it had previously registered disapproval of the principle involved in Social Security.'"

Methodists Seek Huge Gain in Ohio

LAKEVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Delegates at the Ohio Methodists' 24th annual conference have been urged to "win to Christ the five million people in Ohio who are not related to any church."

Dr. John McMahan, Lima district superintendent, made the appeal in the annual "State of the Church" message on behalf of the 11 district superintendents.

Citing the net gain of church membership in the state for the year was 5,195, Dr. McMahan said it was not enough for a church "of this size and strength."

Churches Challenged

CHICAGO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham has called on the Christian church to offer youth a "spiritual dynamic," or they will be susceptible to godless ideologies. "Young people are going to follow a flag," he said. "Is it going to be Marx, or Christ or a new dictator in their lives?"

How to pay for a Cadillac—and not get one!

There are several ways that a man can pay the price of a new Cadillac car—and find himself in possession of an automobile of far less stature.

Because there are many motorists currently considering the purchase of their next car, we would like to enumerate these ways of going astray.

1. Assume that the purchase price of a new Cadillac car is higher than it actually is. (There are eleven models of other makes that this year cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac model.)

2. Fail to appreciate that the basic price of a new Cadillac includes important things that are extra on many other cars. (Including automatic transmission, power steering and power braking.)

3. Neglect to find out from a Cadillac dealer what your present car is worth in trade. (He is especially anxious this spring to welcome new owners.)

And if you take one of these detours, think of all the unique pleasures you could be missing.

There is Cadillac's styling—so majestic that it attracts attention wherever it goes.

There is Cadillac's comfort—so wonderful that every journey becomes a brief vacation.

And there is Cadillac's performance—so great that it is without rival on the world's highways.

So we suggest that you play it safe—and get all the facts from your dealer soon.

You might be closer to a Cadillac than you think.

Someday, we'll all be bulldozing out the multiflora rose hedges. They are pretty and they do indeed provide shelter for wild life. But any uncultivated woods or meadows you may have will eventually become multiflora rose nurseries. Our own woods is full of young plants.

LYMAN PENN has a beautiful multiflora rose hedge on his farm. Some of his roses are a rare shade of wild rose pink.

Mrs. Herman Davis who lives in the tenant house on the Lyman Penn farm is going ahead with her roadside project again this year. She plants the slope across the road from the house in zinnias. She plants it and keeps it weeded. The highway workmen cooperate in every way they can.

Mrs. Orion King, W. High St., is revamping her iris beds. She is making space for some of the new varieties of iris.

The little evergreens in the Eugene Hanson yard were Christmas trees. Planting Christmas trees is a hazardous practice. But such a precious idea! And when they do grow, what sentiment one must feel towards them!

Mrs. Charles Mootz, Frankfort, had lots of purple salvia in her garden this spring. She has had it a long time. It comes in violet and orchid shades.

Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner had the first purple salvia I ever saw. I fell in love with it. It's a coarse-leaved spiked plant.

THE LANDSCAPE contingent that writes books on the subject has a lot to say about keeping the flowers in back.

I must admit the garden editor would be out of luck if everybody abided by this rule.

For instance as I whizzed by the Doyle Painter home the other day I glimpsed the loveliest of color combinations in a planting in front of the house. I'm not sure, but I think it consisted of blue love-in-the-mist and pink peonies.

Blue and pink in combination are very Marie Antoinette-ish. But there are actually very few true blue flowers. Come to think of it, my own love-in-the-mist blooms much later.

Ordinarily I have thousands of spider plant seedlings each spring. This year I do not have that first one. I thought it was the hard winter, but a neighbor has lots of seedling plants.

Speaking of flower gardens in the back—that's where Mrs. Donald Watt, N. Court St., has her garden. She has Fashion roses planted along her driveway and they lure the eye of the passerby into the direction of the garden.

DR. JOE GOELLER was a recent visitor in the Floyd Bartley garden. When he viewed the collection of violets there he said it was hard to believe some of the plants with the un-violet-like leaves were really violets. He knew better, however, than to challenge Bartley in regard as to what is a violet and what is not.

The Robert A. Jones family on the Stoutsville Pike has a very promising vegetable garden. This is a case of "action and reaction" I remember all too well that Rob-

Trellis Roses at McGuires Are Produced from Cuttings

The rose trellis at the Jack McGuire home, 833 Atwater Ave., is indeed a thing of beauty when it is in full bloom.

A white trellis, it is covered, and I do mean covered, with a Blase climber and a dark pink climber which Mrs. McGuire could not identify.

The two roses met overhead and intertwined. Blooming at exactly the same time the red and the dark pink contrasted interestingly.

Mrs. Carl Justice was gathering cattail foliage for a girl scout weaving project which will be undertaken at day camp. It was a hard job to gather the cattail foliage.

Anybody falling in love with the cattail weaving project may find all the cattail foliage she wants at our pond. We'll be beholdin' to you for picking it. Just hope you get some roots while you're at it!

the climbing American Beauty, rose which never fails to put on a magnificent performance. Mrs. McGuire's unidentified rose gave just such a performance. Some of the big roses had stems a foot long or more.

Mrs. McGuire is a former 4H member. As a youngster she learned how to propagate roses from cuttings. Both of these are climbers which she grew from cutting.

MRS. McGuire says she takes a rose stem where it angles off a branch, strips the leaves off and plants it fairly deep. She keeps it watered and after so long a time the cuttings take root.

No, she does not put a mason jar over her cuttings. She leaves them in the ground where they are rooting for a couple of years then moves them to their permanent places.

The whole family is justifiably proud of the rose trellis. When roses fade they are snipped off one by one so that the rose trellis looks fresh during the entire blooming season.

A nest of cardinals was hatching in the rose trellis. But visitors did not seem to disturb the birds who went about their business.

AMA Contends Medicare Bill, Not AMA, Is on Trial Now

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association, answering President Kennedy's challenge to "set the record straight," says the King-Anderson medical care bill—not the AMA—is on trial.

The exchange was the latest development in the administration-AMA dispute over a plan for medical care for the aged.

President Kennedy, in a letter to Dr. Leonard W. Larson, AMA president, cited past actions Kennedy said indicated the AMA's opposition to the Social Security system.

The President's letter Tuesday was in reply to a message Larson sent Kennedy last month charging the President had created the impression the AMA had called Social Security a "cruel hoax" and was among opponents of its enactment in the 1930s.

Larson's letter said, in part, "President Kennedy made the statement in his May 23 news conference that the AMA was one of the chief opponents of the Social Security system in the '30s'.

"This statement is false. The American Medical Association did not oppose enactment of the Social Security system, but what may have been said at some later time is extraneous to the accusation the President made on May 23."

"Furthermore, I want to emphasize that past history of the AMA has nothing to do with the merits of the King-Anderson bill."

"The King-Anderson bill is on trial, not the AMA."

Kennedy in his letter said if the AMA did not oppose Social Security before its enactment—only afterward—he would point out "this unique distinction at my next press conference."

"On the other hand," Kennedy wrote, "if the AMA has never opposed Social Security, some questions may be asked in order to set the record straight."

Among Kennedy's questions were, "why the AMA in 1949 sent to all members of Congress a resolution approved by its House of Delegates calling Social Security a 'compulsory socialistic tax'?" and "why the AMA House of Delegates declared in 1953 it had previously registered disapproval of the principle involved in Social Security?"

Methodists Seek Huge Gain in Ohio

LAKESIDE, Ohio (AP)—Delegates at the Ohio Methodists' 24th annual conference have been urged to "win to Christ the five million people in Ohio who are not related to any church."

Dr. John McMahan, Lima district superintendent, made the appeal in the annual "State of the Church" message on behalf of the 11 district superintendents.

Citing the net gain of church membership in the state for the year was 5,195, Dr. McMahan said it was not enough for a church "of this size and strength."

How to pay for a Cadillac—and not get one!

There are several ways that a man can pay the price of a new Cadillac car—and find himself in possession of an automobile of far less stature.

Because there are many motorists currently considering the purchase of their next car, we would like to enumerate these ways of going astray.

1. Assume that the purchase price of a new Cadillac car is higher than it actually is. (There are eleven models of other makes that this year cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac model.)

2. Fail to appreciate that the basic price of a new Cadillac includes important things that are extra on many other cars. (Including automatic transmission, power steering and power braking.)

3. Neglect to find out from a Cadillac dealer what your present car is worth in trade. (He is especially anxious this spring to welcome new owners.)

And if you take one of these detours, think of all the unique pleasures you could be missing. There is Cadillac's styling—so majestic that it attracts attention wherever it goes.

There is Cadillac's comfort—so wonderful that every journey becomes a brief vacation.

And there is Cadillac's performance—so great that it is without rival on the world's highways. So we suggest that you play it safe—and get all the facts from your dealer soon.

You might be closer to a Cadillac than you think.

BARTLEY AND MAGNOLIA BLOSSOM — The 8-year-old magnolia macrophylla tree in Floyd Bartley's garden bloomed for the first time this May. The blossom measured 15 inches in diameter. The magnolia is also known as the large leafed magnolia. (Staff Photo)

Bartley Garden Foster Home For Numerous Rare Wildlings

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

It was an event of real importance that took me to Floyd Bartley's garden Tuesday of last week. Bartley's magnolia, macrophylla, now 8-year-old, had put forth its first blossom.

And what a blossom! It was at least 15 inches in diameter. It looked like a giant water lily and was a creamy white in color. The Bartley garden is a tranquil place. Big, old pear and maple trees provide shade for the wildlings that Pickaway County's most revered naturalist adopts. The Bartley garden is a "home away from home" for many curious interesting and rare plants.

AN AMAZING characteristic that this botanist seems to have is complete impartiality. After showing me the magnificent blossom on the magnolia tree he escorted me around the garden to see other things.

He came to a tiny plant with a flower less than a quarter of an inch in diameter. It was some rare relative of the checkweed. But Bartley was interested in showing this little fellow off, too.

Bartley, who lives east on Route 56, has spent a lifetime collecting plants. He roams over all Ohio with his plastic bag gathering plants for Ohio State University, the University of West Virginia, Smithsonian Institute and Brooklyn Botanic Garden.

His entire life has been one of dedication to natural science. From early boyhood he has roamed the woods, hills, prairies and meadows of the state.

His is actually a collector's garden. And his collections are scientific. He has, for instance, 15 species of violets, seven species of ferns, a large collection of mosses. He has many different species of asters and many of goldenrod. The mark of a good scientist is his passion for minute detail. And nothing escapes the eagle eye of this botanist.

We asked Bartley what he thought about gardeners fetching home wildlings for their own gardens.

"IT'S ALL right provided they take care of the plants once they get them home. But it's mighty easy to neglect things.

Most everybody in the county at one time or another has had the privilege of going on a nature tour with Floyd Bartley. It makes no difference the season — Bartley can point out hundreds of plants to interest you.

So if you think the wild flower season is over, and it's too late to go on a tour with Floyd Bartley, you are mistaken. It's not just bright flowers that are beautiful to him. Every living plant seems to be equally important.

We think of Floyd Bartley as a sort of modern St. Francis. His beloved garden includes the rare, the insignificant, the odd, as well as the beautiful and flamboyant.

Plants grow well in Bartley's garden. He tucks them in here and there where they will be comfortable and "leave 'em be."

Bartley likes cultivated plants too. Right along with all the wild plants are roses, weigela, deutzia, lilacs, flowering quince, mock orange and wisteria.

A FEW of the better known plants we saw were the true and false Solomon seal, Jac-in-the-pulpit, penstemon, Lenten rose and spiderswort.

Bartley says one of his rare plants is spigelia which is orange yellow with a red throat.

Among his native shrubs is the fringe tree which blooms in May. He also has halesia or silver bell tree, clethra, (sweet pepper bush) red bud and four species of wild magnolia.

Bartley has more than 100 firsts on his list of discoveries in Ohio. His most fantastic is a grass "not new to the area or to the hemisphere, but to the planet. 'I'll have you know'. It is now at Smithsonian Institute in Washington D. C.

It, of course had to be named. It is now listed as calamagrostis, insperata.

His latest find is a member of the carrot family. He has this growing in his garden.

The wild azalea bed is surrounded by a low fence of chicken wire and the plants have a heavy leaf mulch. Once a year Bartley digs sulphur into mulch and the azaleas live and thrive in their foster home.

HE HAS an interesting little plant named mountain lover. It is an evergreen discovered growing at Fort Hill. There is almost a quarter of an acre of mountain lover there.

It was in the early 1920s that Floyd Bartley and the late Leslie Pontious discovered the grove of large leafed magnolias in Jackson County. They ran across it on one of their rambles. The trees were in bloom and they knew by the size of the blossoms that here was a rare and unfamiliar magnolia for Ohio.

This magnolia is native to Mississippi and Tennessee. It is found occasionally in Kentucky. But there is no record of it in West Virginia. In Jackson County it is found three places: Bowles Hollow, Rock Run and White's Gulch.

If you have never been on a nature hike with Floyd Bartley plan one for yourself by visiting his garden. But it must be a guided tour or you will pass by some treasure just because it looks insignificant.

One word of advice! Don't tell Floyd Bartley you are interested in Latin names. He has the Latin name for everything on the tip of his tongue. He'll have your head twirling like a merry-go-round.

Draft in August Faces 5,000 Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will take in 5,000 from the draft in August, the Defense Department announced Wednesday.

The new draft call is the same as the quota for July and 1,500 below the allocation for this month.

The 5,000 to be drafted in August represent about one-third of the Army's new manpower requirements for that month.

Army officials said the remainder of the 16,100 men to be enrolled in August will come into service through enlistment.

Cleric Gives Rules For Ruining Child

CHESTERFIELD, England (AP) — The archdeacon of Chesterfield has given his Church of England parishioners a handy guide on "How to turn your child into a crook."

Drawing a bead on indulgent parents, the Venerable Talbot D'Worth-Harrison listed these 12 "rules" in his parish magazine:

1. Begin from infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe that the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. It will encourage him to pick up "cuter phrases" that will blow the top of your head off later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21, and then let him decide for himself.

4. Avoid the use of the word wrong. It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes and clothes. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing the responsibility on to others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized but let his mind feed on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of the children. Then they won't be too shocked when the home is broken up.

8. Give the child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink and comfort. See that every desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.

10. Take his part against the neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything with him."

12. Prepare for a life of grief—"you will have it."

In the 23 years since the first All-America Roses were announced, hybrid tea roses have dominated the selections.

Hybrid teas are considered the aristocrats of the flower world because they lavish their plants with large classically formed flowers borne individually on long stems.

With the awards to the two hybrid teas, Tropicana and Royal Highness, as 1963 All-America Roses, 38 hybrid teas have won the coveted honor. Sixteen floribundas, four grandifloras and three climbers also hold AARS honors. Grandiflora is a new class introduced by AARS in 1955.

Draft in August Faces 5,000 Men

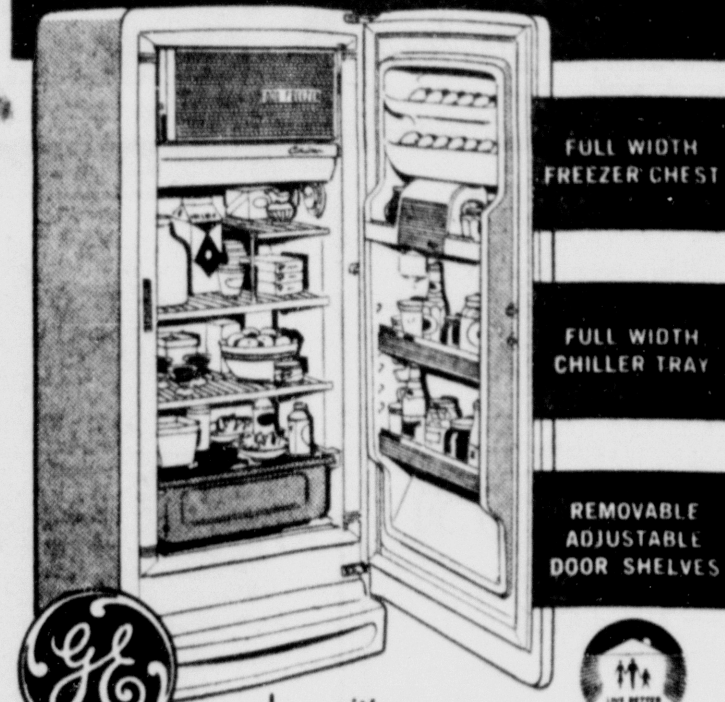

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army will take in 5,000 from the draft in August, the Defense Department announced Wednesday.

The new draft call is the same as the quota for July and 1,500 below the allocation for this month.

The 5,000 to be drafted in August represent about one-third of the Army's new manpower requirements for that month.

Army officials said the remainder of the 16,100 men to be enrolled in August will come into service through enlistment.

Cleric Gives Rules For Ruining Child

CHESTERFIELD, England (AP) — The archdeacon of Chesterfield has given his Church of England parishioners a handy guide on "How to turn your child into a crook."

Drawing a bead on indulgent parents, the Venerable Talbot Diworth-Harrison listed these 12 "rules" in his parish magazine:

1. Begin from infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe that the world owes him a living.

2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. It will encourage him to pick up "cuter phrases" that will blow the top of your head off later.

3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21, and then let him decide for himself.

4. Avoid the use of the word wrong. It may develop a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.

5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around—books, shoes and clothes. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing the responsibility on to others.

6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized but let his mind feed on garbage.

7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of the children. Then they won't be too shocked when the home is broken up.

8. Give the child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?

9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink and comfort. See that every desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.

10. Take his part against the neighbors, teachers and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.

11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything with him."

12. Prepare for a life of grief—"you will have it."

Candidate in Carolina Makes Capital Boner

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Dero Cook, a Democratic candidate for governor, made a mistake that politicians dread.

"I am mighty happy to be in Spartanburg," he said as he opened a speech. But the crowd laughed—he was in Rock Hill.

Toledo Firm To Move To Cincinnati Area

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Maumee Chemical Co. is moving its Toledo production operations to the Cincinnati suburb of St. Bernard, the company has announced.

The East Toledo facilities of the company were destroyed May 10 in an explosion that killed 10 employees and injured another 46 persons. Cause of the blast has not been determined.

George F. Schlaudecker, company president, said the firm's headquarters and research center will remain here.

$11 Million 'Spartacus' Film Starts To Show Gold Lining

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Those who despair over the monumental costs of "Cleopatra" and "Mutiny on the Bounty" may find some solace in the "Spartacus" record. The gladiators-and-gore epic was termed Universal's folly when Kirk Douglas was producing and starring in it. The bill kept mounting with retakes and retakes of the retakes until the total came to a reported $11 million.

Now Douglas reports a golden lining.

"By the end of this year, the picture is expected to have brought in $20 million," said the actor. "That will mean a good profit, and the run is by no means milked. It's also the kind of picture you could bring back every five years or so."

By some mathematical magic, ordinary films are supposed to double their cost in receipts before showing a profit. That represents the added costs of distribution, advertising, interest, etc.

"But when a picture begins to cost many millions, that ratio no longer prevails," Douglas explained. "You can show a profit with less than double the cost. "However, you couldn't prove it by me. I still haven't seen a dime of my share of 'Spartacus' and won't until it's securely in the profit column."

Douglas is now happily working for someone else—Perilberg and Seaton in "The Hook."

Otto Preminger muddled the Potomac with "Advise and Consent," his latest all-star, no-holds-barred movie. Much has already been said about what kind of a picture it displays of democracy at work and how it will be considered overseas.

The characters include: a candidate for secretary of state who lies under oath about previous Communist connections. A president who continues to support him, knowing this. A Senate majority leader who keeps house with the leading Washington hostess. A senator who would "rather crawl to Moscow" than risk war, who is constantly surrounded by four goons and who blackmails a colleague.

One previewer said she had no worries about how foreigners would take it: "There's so much talk, they won't understand it."

Solon Raps Tax Cut Pressure

'Big Money Crowd' Chided by Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., said Wednesday that the "big money crowd" was trying to tap the Treasury by exerting pressure for a business-stimulating cut in federal taxes.

Gore, a member of the Senate Finance Committee, said he believed that a quick tax cut—urged by some to restore confidence shaken by the stock market's gyrations—would be unwise.

Economist-diplomat J. Kenneth Galbraith, author of a book on the 1929 market crash, concurred in Gore's views and told reporters the circumstances "are very different from 1929."

Two Republican senators meantime called on the administration to drop the tax bill now pending and submit the major tax reduction bill that has been promised by President Kennedy for 1963. The pending bill is built around a tax credit to spur business investment.

In what amounted to an accusation that Kennedy was playing politics in disclosing the tax plans for next year, Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., former Republican national chairman, said that Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., like Morton a member of the finance committee now weighing the current tax measure, joined in Morton's view that the bill "ought to be set aside."

The promise of future tax relief, he said, "makes the business community more nervous."

The administration's position, as stated Monday night by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, is that there should be no new tax action now beyond the pending bill—but that Kennedy later will propose a top-to-bottom cut in tax rates for Congress to consider in 1963.

There was an overnight flurry of published reports that Kennedy nevertheless was seriously considering a quick request to Congress for a tax cut to take effect by next Jan. 1. No official confirmation could be found.

A White House spokesman said the report was wrong and a Treasury spokesman also denied knowledge of any such plan.

Senate Panel Ponders U.S. Judge Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — A subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee will hold a hearing June 15 on President Kennedy's nomination of Ben C. Green of Ohio to be a U. S. District Court judge for Northern Ohio.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Beef cuts and broiler-fryer chickens will compete for top attention in supermarkets and groceries this weekend.

One large chain said both rib roasts and the oven-ready variety have been marked down 10 cents a pound since a week ago.

Additionally, pork and ham were reported in plentiful supply at good prices in the Northeast and Southeast.

Eggs, especially the larger sizes, were described as exceptional values in some areas.

Lamb and veal generally were expected to be higher than a week ago.

In the Northeast, merchants reported, vegetable counters will be loaded with beets, cabbage, corn, miscellaneous greens, spinach, rhubarb, Maine potatoes and lettuce.

Corn and potatoes also will be featured elsewhere across the country, along with such favorites as tomatoes, cucumbers, green beans, cabbage, celery, green onions and carrots.

Strawberries still are running strong in most sections, and peaches are beginning to come in from several Southern states.

Citrus fruits, including oranges, lemons and limes particularly, will be right alongside them in many markets at reasonable prices. Bananas, too.

Strangler Executed in Gas Chamber

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Henry Adolph Busch, 31, who strangled three women because of an uncontrollable urge to kill, died calmly in the prison gas chamber here Wednesday.

Busch was sentenced to death for the first-degree murder of his aunt and was convicted of strangling two other Los Angeles women.

The U. S. Court of Appeals rejected Tuesday a plea for a writ of habeas corpus. His attorney, Al Matthews of Los Angeles, contended the prosecution inadvertently had failed to introduce the report Busch had killed his aunt, Martha Briggs, 53, after an argument.

The court noted the state supreme court had already turned down a similar plea and ruled that "there does not appear enough here to present a federal question."

The two other 1960 strangulations by Busch involved Elmyra Miller and Shirley Payne. Each was ruled second-degree murder.

Nixon's Political Comeback Opens

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard N. Nixon is back in business at a new stand as the Republican nominee for governor of California.

The former vice president took the first step on the comeback road by sweeping to a primary victory over conservative Joseph C. Shell with about 70 per cent of his party's vote.

Off this showing Nixon appeared strongly armed to wage what is regarded as an uphill general election battle against Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown. It promises to be a no-holds-barred affair which seems likely to have a direct bearing on the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Brown, a heavy-vote winner in his renomination race, is certain to enlarge upon his charge that Nixon is seeking the governorship only as a "whistle stop on the line to Washington."

Nixon is on record as pledging that "I shall not be a candidate for the presidency in 1964," but almost no politician in California was willing to count him out of the running for that prize should he win the governorship.

President Kennedy is expected to campaign personally for Brown. He has predicted the governor's re-election if the voters can be sold on the national administration's record.

Nixon expects former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who winters at Palm Springs, to speak at a fund-raising dinner and to get in some other campaign licks for him.

One familiar face that seems likely to be missing is that of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, spokesman for party conservatives and chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee. Nixon and Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, who won Republican renomination in a breeze, have made it clear they don't want Goldwater peddling his wares in California.

In grudgingly conceding his defeat, Shell, an oil-wealthy former football star, gave none of the usual lip service to party unity.

Asked if he would back Nixon in November, he replied: "I support certain principles and I am not a me-tooer and I never will be. I will support any candidate who, both by his actions and his words, supports those principles that I have espoused."

This thinly veiled threat to lead a conservative stay-at-home movement in November was not lost on Nixon.

There is almost unanimous agreement among California politicians that to win the governorship any Republican must have the backing of 90 per cent of this own party's voters plus 20 per cent of Democrats. This formula pays tribute to the 4-3 edge the Democrats have among about seven million registered voters.

Pair of Wins Chalked Against Pirates in Move To Stop Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Operation overhaul has moved into its second stage for the Los Angeles Dodgers, tearing toward the top again in that two-team struggle for supremacy in the National League.

Reeling off their second victory streak in an attempt to catch front-running San Francisco, the Dodgers upped their latest string to four games by winning a pair from Pittsburgh Wednesday night—8-3 in the completion of Tuesday's suspended game and 5-3 in the regulation contest.

The Giants, who have held first place since April 30, lost to the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

St. Louis dropped third-place Cincinnati 7½ games back by edging the Reds 4-3, Milwaukee beat Houston 6-3 and Philadelphia extended the Mets' losing skid to 17, sweeping a two-nighter 2-0 and 2-1.

The Pirates chased rookie Joe Moeller (4-4) in the ninth with two walks and a single. Ed Roebuck yielded a run on Dick Stuart's single before Ron Perrano came on to get the final out.

In the one-inning windup of the suspended game, the Dodgers tacked on a run while Sandy Koufax set the Pirates down in order to preserve the victory for Don Drysdale (9-3). Bob Friend (5-7) was the loser.

Giants reliever Don Larsen (3-1) walked four consecutive Cub batters in the ninth, giving the last break a 3-3 tie as Lou Brock crossed with the winner. Dick Ellisworth (4-7) went the distance for the victory.

Red Schoendienst's pinch-hit single drove in the run that snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh and the Cards added the clincher against the Reds in the eighth on a single by Stan Musial and three walks by Joey Jay (8-5). Larry Jackson (5-6) went the route for the victory.

Making his first start since April 29 for Milwaukee, Lew Burdette allowed a dozen hits. An eight-hit attack was enough to beat the Colts. Jim Golden (3-3) was the loser.

Tight pitching won both games for the Phils with Cal McLish (5-1) grabbing the opener with a seven-hitter and Art Mahaffey (6-7) nailing the nightcap with a four-hitter. In the first game Roger Craig (2-8) took the loss. Wes Covington tagged Al Jackson (2-7) with the second game defeat when he lashed a pinch-hit single to score Bob Oldis in the ninth and break a 1-1 deadlock.

Sadecki Handed Suspension

Embattled Card Hurler Is AWOL from Game

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)— Bonus baby Ray Sadecki, suspended by the St. Louis Cardinals for failing to show up for Wednesday night's game, says being traded is the answer to his problem.

But General Manager Biag Devine, who suspended the young lefthander indefinitely, says "He's no more tradeable today than he was yesterday."

Sadecki, 21, sat in his apartment during the game with Cincinnati while Devine watched it from the press box.

"I plan to call Devine Thursday—I've got to get this thing settled," Sadecki said.

"Fine," said Devine. "I'd be happy to talk with him. I don't want to be hard-nosed about it."

Sadecki's troubles started Tuesday night when he was brought in as a relief pitcher at the start of the sixth inning against Cincinnati. He gave up two home runs, committed two errors and allowed five runs to score without retiring a man before Manager Johnny Keane yanked him out in disgust.

The Cards went on to win 10-9 in 11 innings.

Said Keane after the game: "The worst exhibition of effort I've ever seen on a major league diamond."

He fined Sadecki $250. Sadecki signed with the Cards for a bonus estimated at $50,000 right out of high school in Kansas City, Kan., in 1958.

He won 14 games for the Cards last year and this year owns a 2-3 record and the worst earned run average on the team—7.20.

O'Toole Gets Nod To Help Faltering Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Jimmy O'Toole (4-5) is manager Fred Hutchinson's choice tonight to try to salvage one game of the Cincinnati Reds' three-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals edged the Reds 4-3 Wednesday night after a ninth-inning rally by the National League champions was cut short at one run.

In spite of the Reds' sorry fate in Busch Stadium this week—they lost both Tuesday and Wednesday nights—O'Toole, who believes confidence is half the victory, should not have too many forebodings.

He has a 1-1 record against the Cards this season. The last time he faced them, O'Toole gave up only five hits and led the Reds to a 3-2 victory that was a shut-out until the eighth inning.

"If a pitcher thinks he's gonna be hit, he'll be hit," O'Toole claims. "I don't know why, but it's so."

"Sometimes my catcher will come out to talk to me in a tight spot and he'll say, 'let's get that guy, Jim.' I always say, 'We'll get him—don't worry.' If you say that and mean it, you'll get him out most of the time."

The Reds ninth inning rally began with the Cardinals leading 4-2. Coleman started it by singled. Julio Gotay dropped a throw for an error and Don Blasingame singled home a run after catcher Johnny Edwards struck out.

Jackson walked always-dangerous pinch-hitter Jerry Lynch to fill the bases. But then the game came to an abrupt end as Kasko hit into a double play.

Ed Jucker, who coached Cincinnati to the 1961 and 1962 NCAA basketball title, is a 1940 graduate of Cincinnati.

American Legion Baseball Team Practice Slated

Chet Iery, manager of the Circleville American Legion baseball team, announced today that there would be a practice and tryout session at 5:30 p. m. Saturday at Ted Lewis Park.

Iery emphasized that the team roster had not been filled. He invited boys who are interested and have not yet been to a practice to come Saturday.

The local league team has added one game to its schedule, a night game with Marysville on the baseball diamond at Radnor. The game is scheduled for June 16.

Wesleyan Netters Win NCAA Again

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Wesleyan rules as NCAA Midwest regional college division tennis champion a third straight year, due principally to the efforts of Bill Toist and Dick Gordon.

Toist of Hanover, Pa., and Gordon of Rochester, N.Y., teamed up Wednesday to win the doubles title and Toist beat Gordon in the singles final, 6-2, 6-1.

The pair's string of triumphs, capped by a 6-2, 6-4 doubles finale over Central State's John McGill and Denton Johnson, helped the Bishop racqueteteers to 16 points against 10 for runner-up Wheaton (Ill.) in the two-day tournament.

Wittenberg was third with 8 points, Central State fourth with 8.

Gift for Father's Day: A Good Hammer Lock

NEW YORK (AP)— Its only a little over a week to Father's Day and Ben Northrup is planning to give his dad a hammer lock for a present, if he gets a chance.

There's a good one that he will. Ben and his father, Dr. M. A. Northrup, are both entered in the 154-pound class at the National AAU wrestling championships held at the New York Athletic Club. The odds are very good that they'll meet each other before the five-day meet is over.

Ben is 28, his father 53.

Young Switches Vote On Aid-to-Reds Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, first voted against but then went on record in favor of the no-aid-to-Communist - nations amendment which Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, introduced in the foreign aid authorization bill. Young was among eight administration-supporting Democrats who went against the amendment during roll call Wednesday but switched to the majority when it became obvious the Lausche measure was being approved. It passed 57-24.

Golf Promoters Jousting Jinx

Big Players on Hand For $100,000 Classic

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—A group of amateur golf promoters starts out today to break a metropolitan attendance jinx while some strictly professional players try to break Arnold Palmer's grip on Golf's money bags.

The first $100,000 Classic tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club appears to have all the elements to make it a box office success—including Palmer, a golfer of great wealth and ability who appeals tremendously to spectators.

But the records show that in a decade or more, the only pro tournaments in the New York Metropolitan area to draw really big crowds were two U.S. opens—at Baltusrol in 1954 and at Winged Foot in 1959. In 1955 both the Cavalcade of Golf at Westfield, N.J., and the Long Island Rotary open brought disappointingly small crowds and were abandoned.

The Classic was conceived only seven months ago and much of the preparatory work has been done by members of the conservative Upper Montclair club, which never has held a major tournament.

The $100,000 jackpot, with $25,000 to the winner, assured a top-rate field. Most of the players here also will be going for the big one next week in the U.S. Open at Oakmont, Pa.

The field of about 140 also includes the current Open and PGA champions, Gene Littler and Jerry Barber, the entire 1961 U.S. Ryder Cup team, and pros Gary Player of South Africa, Kel Nagle and Bruce Crampton of Australia and Stan Leonard and Al Balding from Canada.

Ward's, Mac's Win Youth Baseball Tilts

Ward's Market and Circleville Builders Supply won the only two games slated last night in Mosquito and Little League action.

Ward's defeated Second National, 22-8, and Builders Supply won out over Mac's Goodyear, 18-8.

Mark Downing, Tom Wickham, Steve Mogan and Mike Metzler paced Wards with two hits each. Kelley Letherwood and Tom Kohlbeck each scored four runs.

Mark Lutz and Harold Strawser led the losing Second National team with two bingles each.

RICKEY BLANKENSHIP and Mark Roy Davey led Builders Supply with two hits and four runs each. Davey also poked a home-run.

Gregg Heiskell had the only hit for Mac's.

New coach Wally Lemm of the St. Louis Cardinals football team believes Sam Etcheberry will be his No. 1 quarterback next fall. Sam had arm trouble last season.

2 Daytonians Get Contracts With Twins

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minnesota Twins Wednesday signed two Dayton University basketball and baseball standouts for their Erie, Pa., farm team in the Class D. New York - Penn League.

They are Garry Roggenburk, a 6-6½ southpaw pitcher, and Tommy Hutton, a righthanded batting third baseman. The Twins said both of the 22-year-olds received bonuses, but amounts were not disclosed.

Roggenburk averaged 16.1 points a game for Dayton's National Invitational tournament championship basketball team, while Hutton averaged 12.0.

Roggenburk did not allow an earned run in hurling three Flyer baseball victories this season. He struck out 20 and permitted but 10 hits in 27 innings. Hutton didn't play baseball this season for Dayton, but in three previous seasons hit .286, .333 and .333.

Sadecki Handed Suspension

Embattled Card Hurler Is AWOL from Game

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)— Bonus baby Ray Sadecki, suspended by the St. Louis Cardinals for failing to show up for Wednesday night's game, says being traded is the answer to his problem.

But General Manager Biag Devine, who suspended the young lefthander indefinitely, says "He's no more tradeable today than he was yesterday."

Sadecki, 21, sat in his apartment during the game with Cincinnati while Devine watched it from the press box.

"I plan to call Devine Thursday —I've got to get this thing settled," Sadecki said.

"Fine," said Devine, "I'd be happy to talk with him. I don't want to be hard-nosed about it." Sadecki's troubles started Tuesday night when he was brought in as a relief pitcher at the start of the sixth inning against Cincinnati. He gave up two home runs, committed two errors and allowed five runs to score without retiring a man before Manager Johnny Keane yanked him out in disgust.

The Cards went on to win 10-9 in 11 innings.

Said Keane after the game: "The worst exhibition of effort I've ever seen on a major league diamond."

He fined Sadecki $250.

Sadecki signed with the Cards for a bonus estimated at $50,000 right out of high school in Kansas City, Kan., in 1958.

He won 14 games for the Cards last year and this year owns a 2-3 record and the worst earned run average on the team—7.20.

O'Toole Gets Nod To Help Faltering Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Jimmy O'Toole (4-5) is manager Fred Hutchinson's choice tonight to try to salvage one game of the Cincinnati Reds' three-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals edged the Reds 4-3 Wednesday night after a ninth-inning rally by the National League champions was cut short at one run.

In spite of the Reds' sorry fate in Busch Stadium this week —they lost both Tuesday and Wednesday nights—O'Toole, who believes confidence is half the victory, should not have too many forebodings.

He has a 1-1 record against the Cards this season. The last time he faced them, O'Toole gave up only five hits and led the Reds to a 3-2 victory that was a shut-out until the eighth inning.

"If a pitcher thinks he's gonna be hit, he'll be hit," O'Toole claims. "I don't know why, but it's so."

"Sometimes my catcher will come out to talk to me in a tight spot and he'll say, 'let's get that guy, Jim.' I always say, 'We'll get him—don't worry.' If you say that and mean it, you'll get him out most of the time."

The Reds ninth inning rally began with the Cardinals leading 4-2. Coleman started it by singled. Julio Gotay dropped a throw for an error and Don Blasingame singled home a run after catcher Johnny Edwards struck out.

Jackson walked always-dangerous pinch-hitter Jerry Lynch to fill the bases. But then the game came to an abrupt end as Kasko hit into a double play.

Ed Jucker, who coached Cincinnati to the 1961 and 1962 NCAA basketball title, is a 1940 graduate of Cincinnati.

Iery emphasized that the team roster had not been filled. He invited boys who are interested and have not yet been to a practice to come Saturday.

Wesleyan Netters Win NCAA Again

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Wesleyan rules as NCAA Midwest regional college division tennis champion a third straight year, due principally to the efforts of Bill Toist and Dick Gordon.

Toist of Hanover, Pa., and Gordon of Rochester, N.Y., teamed up Wednesday to win the doubles title and Toist beat Gordon in the singles final, 6-2, 6-1.

The pair's string of triumphs, capped by a 6-2, 6-4 doubles finale over Central State's John McGill and Denton Johnson, helped the Bishop racquetreets to 16 points against 10 for runner-up Wheaton (Ill.) in the two-day tournament.

Wittenberg was third with 9 points, Central State fourth with 8.

Gift for Father's Day: A Good Hammer Lock

NEW YORK (AP) — Its only a little over a week to Father's Day and Ben Northrup is planning to give his dad a hammer lock for a present, if he gets a chance.

There's a good one that he will. Ben and his father, Dr. M. A. Northrup, are both entered in the 154-pound class at the National AAU wrestling championships being held at the New York Athletic Club. The odds are very good that they'll meet each other before the five-day meet is over.

Ben is 28, his father 53.

Young Switches Vote On Aid-to-Reds Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, first voted against but then went on record in favor of the no-aid-to-Communist — nations amendment which Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D. Ohio, introduced in the foreign aid authorization bill. Young was among eight administration-supporting Democrats who went against the amendment during roll call Wednesday but switched to the majority when it became obvious the Lausche measure was being approved. It passed 57-24.

Golf Promoters Jousting Jinx

Big Players on Hand For $100,000 Classic

CLIFTON, N.J. (AP)—A group of amateur golf promoters starts out today to break a metropolitan attendance jinx while some strictly professional players try to break Arnold Palmer's grip on Golfs money bags.

The first $100,000 Classic tournament at the Upper Montclair Country Club appears to have all the elements to make it a box office success—including Palmer, a golfer of great wealth and ability who appeals tremendously to spectators.

But the records show that in a decade or more, the only pro tournaments in the New York Metropolitan area to draw really big crowds were two U.S. opens —at Baltusrol in 1954 and at Winged Foot in 1959. In 1955 both the Cavalcade of Golf at Westfield, N.J., and the Long Island Rotary open brought disappointingly small crowds and were abandoned.

The Classic was conceived only seven months ago and much of the preparatory work has been done by members of the conservative Upper Montclair club, which never has held a major tournament.

The $100,000 jackpot, with $25,000 to the winner, assured a top-rate field. Most of the players here also will be going for the big one next week in the U.S. Open at Oakmont, Pa.

The field of about 140 also includes the current Open and PGA champions, Gene Littler and Jerry Barber, the entire 1961 U.S. Ryder Cup team, and pros Gary Player of South Africa, Kel Nagle and Bruce Crampton of Australia and Stan Leonard and Al Balding from Canada.

Ward's, Mac's Win Youth Baseball Tilts

Ward's Market and Circleville Builders Supply won the only two games slated last night in Mosquito and Little League action.

Ward's defeated Second National, 22-8, and Builders Supply won out over Mac's Goodyear, 18-8.

Mark Downing, Tom Wickham, Steve Mogan and Mike Metzler paced Wards with two hits each. Kelley Letherwood and Tom Kohlbeck each scored four runs.

Mark Lutz and Harold Strawser led the losing Second National team with two bingles each.

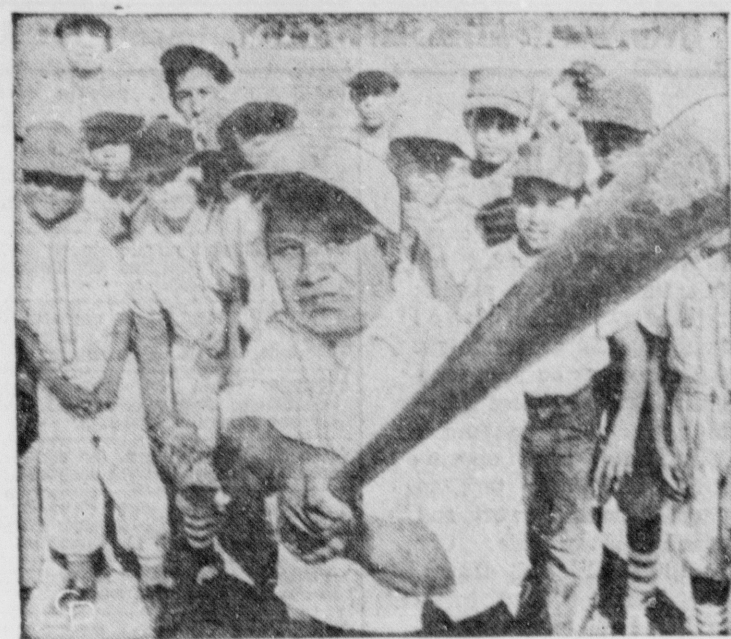

RICKEY BLANKENSHIP and Mark Roy Davey led Builders Supply with two hits and four runs each. Davey also poked a home-run.

Gregg Heiskell had the only hit for Mac's.

New coach Wally Lemm of the St. Louis Cardinals football team believes Sam Etcheverry will be his No. 1 quarterback next fall. Sam had arm trouble last season.

Reorganization Of OSU Urged By Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Novice G. Fawcett, president of Ohio State University, has received a voluminous report calling for academic reorganization of the institution.

The recommendations came from a permanent planning committee composed of faculty members who studied the university's academic structure for two years. The recommendations, which will not be acted upon until next fall, include:

1. Eliminating the College of Arts and Sciences and establishing four new undergraduate colleges.
2. Establishing a university college in which all students would be enrolled their first two years, and,
3. Admitting students to the degree-granting colleges only on attainment of junior standing.

The four new undergraduate colleges would be called the College of the Humanities, the College of the Life Sciences, the College of Physical Sciences, and the College of Social Sciences.

Fawcett asked the entire faculty to study the proposals and offer any suggestions they might have.

Ohio Business Sets College Aid Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio business firms set state and national records for aid to non-tax-supported colleges during the year ended May 31, the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges reported today.

The foundation—a group of 32 Ohio colleges — reports receiving 1,445 gifts totaling $1,083,015 from business concerns during the last 12 months. This compares with $1,001,022 received during the previous year.

The total also exceeds that received by any other of the 40 such state and regional groups throughout the United States, the foundation said.

The funds are divided among member colleges for use in improving faculty salaries. This year's receipts bring to $7,675,000 the amount of corporate gifts received since the foundation was established in 1951.

Canton Firm To Purchase Reserve Ordnance Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The E. W. Bliss Co., which has occupied the naval industrial reserve ordnance plant in Canton, Ohio, on lease since 1950, evidently will own the property soon. The General Services Administration notified Congress Wednesday it plans to sell the plant to Bliss, a heavy equipment manufacturer, for $5,424,698. It cost the government $19.7 million to acquire and erect the facility in 1941-42.

Precinct Level Drive Planned by Ohio Dems

MARYSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Robert W. Reider, publisher of the Port Clinton Daily News, has lauded State Democratic Chairman William L. Coleman and predicted the party will conduct its biggest precinct level campaign in history this fall.

Speaking Wednesday night at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner here, Reider said the campaign will bring "a massive victory explosion at the ballot box for Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and the entire Democratic ticket."

Student To Attend Workshop at OSU

Stephen Spicer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Spicer, 133 E. High St., will attend the second annual Art Workshop for high school students at the Ohio State University School of Fine and Applied Arts June 10-16. He has been an art student of Mrs. Kenneth Luna of Circleville for three years.

The purpose of the workshop is to introduce the broad fields of professional study in art to high school students in the state.

The program will introduce participants to the possibilities for further study in painting, sculpture, graphics, ceramics, advertising design, industrial design, interior design, the teaching of art and the history of art.

Students will live in university dormitories and use the facilities of the School of Fine and Applied Arts. They will be instructed by faculty members of the school. Professor David W. Ecker will co-ordinate the program.

East German Reds Admit Lack of Food

BERLIN (AP) — The Communists publicly admitted today there are serious food shortages in East Germany.

The party newspaper Neues Deutschland called for multiplication of efforts to produce more milk and meat to overcome deficits in many districts on the state-planned goals.

The front-page admission of widespread failure to achieve targets, which are modest by Western standards, came as Communist bloc leaders met in Moscow for a summit conference on economic problems.

Neues Deutschland gave the example of the Karl Marx district, which it said "owed the republic" an amount of milk sufficient to give everybody in the district half a liter (1.1 point) a day for five months. The state plan in this area had been fulfilled only 86.8 per cent by the end of May, the paper said.

The districts of Erfurt, Halle, Magdeburg and Dresden — the country's big population centers — had similarly failed. The paper did not give figures in these Oder, Leipzig, Potsdam, Cottbus and Neubrandenburg.

This would come as no news to the housewives, who can be seen in long lines before food stores.

Secret-Telling GI Said Mentally Ill

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — A federal judge ruled Tuesday that ex-soldier George John Gessner is mentally ill and cannot stand trial now on a charge of giving nuclear secrets to the Russians.

Judge Arthur J. Stanley Jr. sent Gessner, 25, back to the U.S. Medical Center at Springfield Mo., for treatment.

Gessner, formerly of Homestead, Pa., is accused of telling officials of the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City about the firing systems of two gun-type nuclear weapons.

Gessner went to Mexico City after deserting Dec. 7, 1960 from Ft. Bliss, Tex., where he was a nuclear weapons maintenance specialist. He served a term at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., for desertion.

Ex-Findlay Prof Indicted By U.S. Jury

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — An indictment charging illegal entry into the United States was returned by a federal grand jury against Dr. Nydia Baker Luthy, former chemistry department head at Findlay College.

Dr. Luthy, taken into custody May 14, is being held in Lucas County Jail under $25,000 bond.

Thomas M. Pederson, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the 50-year-old Dr. Luthy is a native of the Russia Ukraine. She was brought to the United States at the age of three, he said.

She was deported on May 21, 1951, at New York City because of alleged affiliation with the Young Communist League.

Immigration officers said she returned illegally to the country at Tampa, Fla., in 1959.

Dr. Luthy, known in Findlay as Dr. Barker, had been conducting cancer research at the college.

She will appear in U.S. District Court Friday to plead to the indictment.

Methodists To Integrate

LAKEVIEW, Ohio (AP) — Race relations took the spotlight at the annual meeting of the Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church as delegates adopted a resolution aimed at helping desegregate the denomination.

The resolution, adopted Wednesday, invites the Negro Central West, Lexington and Southwest conferences to join the North Central jurisdiction, which is predominantly white. The three conferences are now part of the Central (Negro) jurisdiction.

The conference also urged encouragement of local level cooperation between the Negro churches and the Ohio Conference churches. It suggested pulp exchanges, Methodist unions and training schools in Christian education could be areas of cooperation.

Thomas To Head Youth Conference

David Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernal Thomas, 526 E. Mound St., has been elected president of the EUB Church Southeast Conference Youth Fellowship.

Thomas was installed during an annual spring picnic held at Camp Otterbein at Logan. Approximately 500 Fellowship members and parents were present.

Dr. C. F. Lutz, Conference superintendent, conducted the installation of Thomas and other officers.

The program at Camp Otterbein included singing, hiking on nature trails, a picnic lunch and devotionals.

Livestock Sale Sets Record

CLEVELAND (AP) — A volume of livestock that exceeded all expectation brought generally strong prices Wednesday in the first auction in the 81-year history of the Cleveland Union Stock Yards.

Auctioneer Herbert A. Bambeck of Dover chartered for bids on 1,050 adult cattle and 150 calves before an audience drawn from three states.

James P. Carpenter, stock yards president, said it probably was the largest cattle auction ever held in the state. Auctioning of cattle only will continue every Wednesday afternoon, he said.

Private treaty sales, the traditional terminal market sales method, in which buyers negotiate privately with sellers, will continue on cattle every day but Wednesday, and on all other livestock every day.

Alaska has the longest seacoast of any state with at least 6,640 miles. Florida is second with 1,197; California third with 840.
